Britain To Control Labor, 'Impose Hardships'

Both Indonesia Sides Accused Of Truce Breach

BATAVIA, Java (AP)—The Netherlands army accused the Indonesian Republic today of violating Monday night's cease-fire order five times and at the same time denied Indonesian charges that the Dutch had committed such violations.

Indonesian Prime Minister Amir Sjarifoeddin had charged the Dutch with violating the order at Gombong, on the central front, 60 miles west of Jogjakarta, 2½ hours after the mid-night deadline.

The Dutch declared today, however, that they actually occupied Gombong 30 minutes before the order became effective.

Walter A. Foote, the United States Consul-General here, officially delivered an offer of U.S. mediation in the dispute to the Indonesian Deputy Prime Minister, A. K. Gani, shortly after mid-night this morning.

Gani said he would relay the American offer to his government in Jogjakarta at once, and said he hoped for a reply by tonight. Foote, Gani continued, urged Republican acceptance "because mediation of one state can achieve results more quickly than mediation by a commission composed of several states."

The Indonesians earlier had asked for an international commission to mediate the dispute and supervise the cease-fire order.

Trucking Crash Ties Up Traffic

Litter and three mangled trucks that collided on the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge held up rush-hour traffic on the bus-truck deck for two hours. Driver of one of the vehicles, Ed Pelley, 38, Oakland, was critically hurt. Bus commuters transferred to trains.

Attlee Outlines Drastic Legislation Planned To Beat Economic Dunkerque

Canada Unlikely To Be Affected By British Cuts

OTTAWA (CP)—Government sources were cautious today in estimating what effect Britain's proposed $48,000,000 slash in monthly food imports from the dollar area, but some officials said they did not think the Dominion would suffer any great hardship.

These officials said most of the food products imported from Canada by the United Kingdom were under long-term contracts and they understood the terms of these contracts would not be affected. The contracts cover wheat, bacon, cheese, eggs, beef and milk.

The officials recalled that only recently the United Kingdom had stopped poultry purchases in Canada. Previously it had been announced the United Kingdom would not take any Canadian apples this year. It was also announced the space allotted to token shipments of non-essential goods would not be increased.

Meanwhile, it was learned authoritatively that any relaxation of the Anglo-American loan agreement terms would affect the terms of the Canadian loan to Britain.

One source said the terms under which Canada loaned Britain $125,000,000 in 1946 were tied up with the terms of the $3,750,000,000 loan from the United States.

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Attlee announced today in a tensely-waiting House of Commons a multi-sided program to save dollars, including a drastic $12,000,000 ($48,000,000) monthly slash in food imports from the dollar area, and warned that the British people will be called upon to work longer hours, with less material incentives, for economic victory.

He promised to "do everything in our power" to maintain the country's meagre basic rations, adding that the government will be ready to meet any cut with a plan to give food preference to heavy manual workers.

Unfolding before a packed House details of the government's broad program to counter Britain's growing economic crisis, Attlee said Britain would reduce her armed forces overseas, impose limited direction of labor and seek relaxation of clauses in the United States loan agreement.

He said workers "in the more essential industries" would have to work longer and that coal miners would be asked to extend their working day by half an hour.

The cuts in imports, most significant of which is the drastic reduction in food supplies from the dollar area, embracing Canada and the United States, would mean "hardships for many people," Attlee said.

The United States, at Britain's request, had agreed to discuss the clauses relating to sterling convertibility and non-discrimination in trade agreements in the American $3,750,000,000 loan, which the Prime Minister said would be exhausted this year.

Restrictions on restaurant and hotel meals will be imposed immediately, the Prime Minister declared without amplification.

Outside the House of Commons, it was understood that the plan is to reduce food supplies to restaurants but to avoid coupon rationing.

Motorists Fight Proposed 1-Cent Gasoline Increase

LATEST

Home-Building Falls Behind Govt. Target

OTTAWA (CP)—Government sources said today the number of homes built in Canada in 1947 would be about 60,000 instead of the 80,000 set as a target by federal housing officials.

Officials, confronted with a situation they admitted was disappointing, said the chief trouble lay in the small number of new homes being started. In the first half of the year, the 16,899 new starts were 25 per cent below the total for the same period last year because of growing costs, rising labor charges and continuing difficulty in getting construction materials.

Canadian Troops Not Going Abroad

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Attlee's announcement Britain is slashing her overseas forces by another 133,000 brought no indication in Ottawa that Canada might step in as a substitute.

The reaction of one defence department official was that there was "not a chance" that the Dominion would reverse her traditional role of keeping her peace-time troops at home.

Bleachers Collapse, Injuring Scores

GOSHEN, N.Y. (AP)—Three sections of temporary bleachers, jammed with fans here for the running of the Hambletonian trotting stakes, collapsed today and first hospital reports said a number were injured. A record Hambletonian crowd of 20,000 or more packed the stands, temporary and permanent, for the trotting classic.

The accident occurred at the temporary stands near the head of the stretch. A nurse at Goshen hospital said:

"Three persons are under X-ray, one woman is very seriously hurt and scores are being treated for various injuries."

Resume Air Search For Mountaineers

VANCOUVER (CP)—A B.C. airlines plane resumed the search today for the five remaining members of the Harvard mountaineers attempting to scale for bidding, 13,260-foot Mount Waddington in the rugged B.C. coastal mountains.

Pilot of the ship, George Williams, took up the search yesterday relieving a United States army B17 bomber which has been dropping over the bleak snow-capped peaks for two days.

Trades And Labor Group Joins Fight Against 'Bill 39'

VANCOUVER (CP)—A special committee to investigate potential changes in controversial "Bill 39" and submit them for legislation was appointed at a meeting of the Vancouver Trades and Labor Council (A.F.L.) here.

The V.T.L.C.'s action marked the first major attack by an A.F.L. affiliate against the Industrial Arbitration and Conciliation Act. Former criticism of "Bill 39" was confined almost exclusively to Canadian Congress of Labor organizations.

"Unless that legislation is drastically amended, the lawyers are going to have a field day," warned William Rigby, delegate for the United Fishermen and Allied Workers.

May Ansell, Hotel and Restaurant Workers Union delegate said that her union was encountering some difficulty in negotiating new agreements.

"The employers feel themselves a little more secure hiding behind 'Bill 39,'" she said.

"We may have to show them 'Bill 39' is no skirt to hide behind."

U.S. May Urge Assembly Tackle Balkan Problems

LAKE SUCCESS (AP)—The United States was reported ready today to suggest that the United Nations' General Assembly handle the Balkan situation if the Security Council cannot do so because of Russia's veto.

The council was called to continue debate on the Balkans, with the prospect of some of the plainest speaking yet heard in that group of 11 diplomats.

An authoritative source said Herschel V. Johnson, United States Deputy on the Security Council, was all set to make an important statement outlining the United States position substantially this way:

1. The United States hopes the Security Council will act to meet the situation. But, if the council cannot do that through the use of the veto, the United States is confident that the General Assembly will handle the situation.

2. The United States feels strongly on the Soviet use of veto. It does not like the implications in the Soviet action.

3. The United States has decided views toward what it feels has been the defiance of Albania, Yugoslavia and Bulgaria in refusing to co-operate with the Security Council's subsidiary group left in the trouble area.

4. Finally, the United States, contrary to reports that it might try to achieve a solution outside the United Nations, is definitely and firmly committed to the United Nations and will exhaust all resources of the charter in trying to solve the question.

British Continue Palestine Round-up Of Suspect Jews

JERUSALEM (AP)—Three more Jews were taken into custody today as British authorities continued their round-up of Jewish leaders whom the government says have "shown sympathy for the policy of violence" or have "been in contact with the underground."

In Jerusalem, a sharp explosion shattered the early morning quiet of a dusk to dawn curfew area, but British army officials said there were no casualties from the blast, apparently caused by a grenade tossed at a British post near the Jewish Agency building.

Approximately 40 Jewish leaders now are being held at Latrun detention camp, including the mayors of the all Jewish towns of Tel Aviv, Natanya and Ramat Gan. Most of the others being held were members of the Revisionist Movement, which revisionist newspapers say has no connection with any underground organization.

Attlee's Speech Broadcast Twice

VANCOUVER (CP)—Prime Minister Attlee's speech on the current economic crisis in Great Britain will be heard on the Canadian Broadcasting Corp.'s CBR twice today, CBC officials announced here today.

The broadcast will be heard at 2:15 to 2:45 p.m. (P.D.T.) and again tonight at 10:30 to 11 p.m. (P.D.T.), they said.

Find Nothing Of Plane

The frigate Antigonish, which is making an echo sounding and sidescan sweep off Prevost Island near Gabriola Island, in an effort to locate the Trans-Canada Air Lines plane lost April 29, had found nothing up to noon today.

British Consulate Defaced

A workman cleans an anti-British sign from the front of the British Consulate in New York City. This sign refers to the current trouble in Palestine. Similar signs reading "Nazis" and containing swastikas were painted on other British buildings in New York and in other U.S. cities.

$10,000,000 Timber Import Cut

Besides food, Attlee announced these other import cuts:

A $10,000,000 annual reduction in imports of timber, most of which comes from Canada;

A $5,000,000 annual reduction in imports of luxury consumer goods;

A cut in film imports by limiting remittances on foreign films to not more than 25 per cent of earnings on those films.

The gasoline ration for private motorists will be cut by one-third to permit 180 miles of motoring monthly and supplementary allowances for business purposes will be cut by 10 per cent.

Gasoline issues for all commercial vehicles also will be cut by one-tenth.

These changes will be effective Oct. 1.

The foreign travel allowance after Oct. 1 will be $35 ($140) for 14 months instead of the present $75 ($300) for 12 months and the allowance for children will be cut accordingly to $20 instead of $40.

Emphasizing that "no question of a coalition crisis: That has not been sponsored from either the Labor side or the Conservative side," Attlee called on every Briton to help win the country's current economic battle.

The Labor government leader told the House the agreement reached when the United States advanced credits of $3,750,000,000 was aggravating the British economic crisis.

Attlee, in his grim statement outlining the Socialist regime's plans to overcome its dollar famine, said Great Britain had proposed negotiations with the United States for revision of two clauses in the loan agreement.

"I am glad to say Mr. Marshall (U.S. Secretary of State) replied agreeing to those discussions," he said.

His reference was to international conversations on Marshall's proposal of American aid.

Need 100,000 More Farm Workers

Britain needed 100,000 more farm workers, big capital outlay and heavy commitments on the part of agricultural producers.

New scales of prices for future production would be announced this month by the ministry of agriculture. They would be designed to give farmers confidence to embark on expanding production and provide them with additional resources.

Oliver Stanley, Conservative, opened the debate, accusing the government of "encouraging inflation" and "distorting our economy." Stanley said the Labor administration could have prevented the swift exhausting of the United States loan, originally expected to last until 1950.

Some workers, Attlee said, had failed to realize that shorter hours and higher wages had to be matched by greater effort.

In a general review of the course of events leading to Britain's present position, he said that by the end of 1946, Britain's exports had reached a level of 111 per cent over the 1938 volume.

He suggested that "maybe we have tried to do too much in a short time. It may well be that we have relaxed controls too soon."

"But the record of the people during the past two years is one of which any country can be proud."

Immediate imposition of very heavy sacrifices by foregoing the loan might have resulted in failure to reconstruct. There had been pressure to give the people more of everything. "I do not think it is unwise to hold a balance in these matters."

He said the slow recovery of Europe, heavy overseas commitments and the prolonging of those commitments had worked against Britain and had been beyond her control.

Lend-Lease Surplus May Be Sent To Greece, Turkey, Not Russia

WASHINGTON (AP)—Part of a $250,000,000 tag end of lend-lease goods originally destined for Russia may wind up in Greece and Turkey under the American aid program designed to ease Soviet pressures on those countries. The rest is likely to be dumped on the surplus property market where, conceivably, Russia could buy it again at cut-rate prices. This situation came to light today as officials disclosed privately that congressional action in blocking the shipments is causing an epidemic of headaches in both the state and treasury departments.

The State Department pleaded with the lawmakers to let the deal go through lest this government lay itself open to charges of "flagrant discrimination" and "welshing" on its contract with the Russians.

But Congress took the position that Soviet actions in eastern Europe in the last few months needed some sign of official American disapproval.

The situation goes back to V-J Day when the United States ordered a halt to the Wartime mutual aid program under which the country supplied its allies with more than $50,000,000 worth of fighting and home-front equipment.

But while the lend-lease arrangement as such came to an abrupt halt, various countries contracted on a time payment basis for materials costing $1,201,000,000. Under this deal Russia was to receive $250,000,000 worth. All were to be delivered by last Dec. 31.

Because of strikes and other delaying factors, however, some $34,000,000 worth remained in the United States when the deadline fell.

Thereupon the comptroller-general ruled that unless Congress decreed otherwise no more appropriated moneys could be used to pay the operating expenses of the program. Hence the goods began piling up in warehouses across the country.

Alaska Pilots Follow Disc

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP)—Two veteran Alaska pilots reported today a five-minute aerial pursuit of "a disc-like object" at 170 miles an hour.

The pilots, Jack Peck, a veteran of 17 years flying in the north, and co-pilot Vance Daly, informed the Civil Aeronautics Administration the incident occurred Monday northwest of Bethel at about 500 feet altitude.

The C.A.A. issued the following release on their report: "A disc-like object resembling the rear view of a C-54 without motors or flying wing; wind negligible; ceiling and visibility unlimited; true course northwest; no visible means propulsion. After determining no reported traffic at Bethel, Peck followed the object in a DC-3 for five minutes at indicated air speed of 170 miles per hour before it disappeared."

Lifeguards Plan Strike

TORONTO (CP)—A meeting attended by 44 of the 52 lifeguards and guards employed at civic beaches Tuesday night drafted a letter to the supervisor of lifeguards warning they will go on strike Saturday if their claims for pay increases are not answered. The lifeguards want equal pay with the playground supervisors who get $35 for a 44-hour week plus overtime. The lifeguards on the same hiring basis get $23.40 for a 56-hour week.

300 Planes' Lost In Texas Blaze

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—Loss was estimated at more than $300,000 today after a grass-fed fire raced across the airplane-packed acres of Hicks Air Field, north of here Tuesday.

Five buildings were leveled and approximately 300 planes were either destroyed or damaged beyond repair. Also destroyed were 1,000 plane batteries and nearly 200 tires and propellers for the 1,200 planes stored in the field.

Premier King's Closest Friends Not Yet Told Of Plans To Retire

By D'ARCY O'DONNELL
OTTAWA (CP)—A source close to the government said that as far as he knew Prime Minister King has not told even his closest associates when he plans to resign and retire from public life.

The source was commenting on a statement made in Vancouver Monday by James Sinclair, Liberal member of the Commons for North Vancouver. Mr. Sinclair was quoted as saying in an interview that "when Mr. King, as is expected, resigns next spring, the emphasis will be on youth when his successor is chosen."

Mr. Sinclair said Finance Minister Abbott, 48, was the leading contender to succeed the Prime Minister. The statement was a "further stage" in the speculation on the plans of the 72-year-old Prime Minister, said the source. He recalled that Mr. King stated during the 1949 general election campaign and since that he would not contest another general election. The life of the present Parliament expires in 1950. Mr. King's silence on his future plans has not prevented his supporters from speculating. In fact, guesses as to his probable departure date, and as to his likely successor have become a favorite pastime in the capital's political circles.

During the recent session

some Liberal members said they had heard that Mr. King, on his doctor's orders, would resign in September and turn the Prime Ministership over to External Affairs Minister St. Laurent until a new leader could be chosen at a national convention and elected to the Commons.

Other members said Mr. King would resign next June when he will have surpassed the Commonwealth record for a Prime Ministership, established in the 18th century by Britain's Sir Robert Walpole.

A few Liberal members said there was always a possibility that world conditions would be such, come next election time, that Mr. King would feel obliged to reverse his earlier decision to retire.

In recent weeks it has been frequently reported that Mr. St. Laurent wants to retire from public life and return to his law practice in Quebec.

Besides Mr. St. Laurent the most frequently mentioned as possible successor to Mr. King have been Finance Minister Abbott, 48, Transport Minister Chevrier, 44, Agriculture Minister Gardiner, 63, Health Minister Martin, 44, Defence Minister Claxton, 48, Justice Minister Halsey, 53, Reconstruction Minister Howe, 61, and 49-year-old Lester B. Pearson, popular Under-Secretary of State for External Affairs.

Hungary Loses $7,000,000 Credit

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Marshall today disclosed the export-import bank has canceled a $7,000,000 cotton credit earmarked for the Hungarian government.

Marshall told a news conference once the bank took the action because some of the Hungarian negotiators in which the bank had confidence had been exiled as a result of what he termed the Communist coup which recently overthrown the government.

In announcing the credit cancellation, Marshall emphasized the considerations governing the move were strictly banking factors.

R.C.M.P. Start Check On U.S. Currency Held In Canada

OTTAWA (CP)—The Mounties are going to work on the case of the missing American dollars.

Key agency in Canada's drive for those dollars, the Foreign Exchange Control Board announced Tuesday the R.C.M.P. are launching "a country-wide check of the way storekeepers, service stations, hotels and others are handling U.S. currency received from tourists."

"Reports indicate that many merchants are not turning in their U.S. dollar receipts but are paying them out freely in change and in some cases are selling them to the public in exchange for Canadian currency," the board said.

It recalled that tourists "are one of the main sources of the foreign exchange needed to pay for Canadian imports and other normal expenditures in the United States. So that their U.S. dollars will be available for these purposes, regulations require that Canadian merchants and others turn the U.S. currency they receive into their banks."

The check-up now is being made and "where breaches of the regulations are found prosecutions under the Foreign Exchange Control Act will be commenced."

Man Claims He Drove Siegel Killer's Car

WAURIKAN, Okla. (AP)—Deputy Sheriff J. C. Gardner said today he was checking thoroughly a statement signed by a man who claimed he drove an automobile for the killer of Bugsy Siegel in Beverly Hills, June 20.

Gardner said the man walked up to him on Waurika's main street and asked to be placed in jail "because he was afraid the killers of Siegel would get him."

"The man appears rational to me," Gardner continued, "and county attorney John Hannah, who also talked to him and questioned him at length, believes he may be telling us a straight story."

"He doesn't act like a crank."

Crown Queen At Langford

Mary Guiney was crowned queen of the Langford County Fair by Mayor Percy George.

LANGFORD—More than 800 people came to the Trail Riders' Ranch, Goldstream, Tuesday night, for the opening of the second annual two-day Langford County Fair. The fair will close tonight.

Flags, bunting and colored lights were strung across the fair-ground and the midway, which was in full swing, and helped to provide the carnival atmosphere.

With six girls of the Oak Bay Drill Team forming the guard of honor, pretty Mary Guiney, garbed in white dress and royal crimson cloak, was driven to the stand, where Mayor Percy George crowned her "Queen of the Fair."

Princesses Denise and Helen Cuche and Pearl Glenn accompanied the queen-elect to the stand, while Heather Robertson acted as crown-bearer; Barbara Ann Glenn, mace-bearer, and Mary Trope, train-bearer.

Mayor George was introduced by John Priestley, past president of the Victoria Lions' Club. Mrs. George, who accompanied the mayor, was presented with a corsage of rosebuds.

"I wish you every success in your second annual fair," said

Mayor George, as he brought greetings from the surrounding municipalities and commended the residents of the district for their community spirit. "I declare the fair now open."

During the evening, members of the Victoria Riding Academy gave an exhibition of jumping and children were delighted with the pony cycle. All children attending the fair received a small souvenir.

Today all Veteran stages to Langford, from 1 in the afternoon on, proceeded to the fair grounds at Goldstream.

Rodney Bayles is manager of the fair. Mrs. Alec Turner convened the P.T.A. refreshment stall, assisted by Mrs. E. Thow, Viola Savage, Helen Turner, Shirley Allen, Eileen and Edith Turner. Events were announced by a public address system.

Responsible for the dresses worn by the queen and members of her entourage were Mesdames J. E. Glenn, H. M. McKenzie, J. Braithwaite, N. Bellard, J. Greening and A. F. Bayles.

Women's Institute flower show was the first item on today's fair agenda, which included a parachute jump, sports and motorcycle riding events.

Parksville Water System Cost Jumps From $45,000 To $75,000

PARKSVILLE—Village commissioners, meeting Monday night, received a revised report on the proposed water system from F. C. Stewart, Vancouver, consulting engineer, setting out reasons why the system would cost $75,000 instead of $45,000 as first expected.

Chief reasons for price jump were use of steel pipe instead of wooden as originally planned, increased cost of all material and some labor, and increased footage, due to recent subdivisions in the fast-expanding municipality.

Mr. Stewart pointed out, since his first report in December, 1945, that the price of wood-stave pipe had risen 58 per cent and the number of potential connections had increased from 150 to 225. At the present price he said wood pipe could not be recommended even if it were not.

Another section of Mr. Stewart's report emphasized that to take care of the increase in the normal demand and still give the fire protection originally intended, it is proposed to use six inch rather than four-inch pipe on the Molliet-Hirst-McMillan line. He said pipe must be ordered in the next month so delivery in the first half of 1948 could be ensured.

He warned prices showed no evidence of decline and that further increases might be likely. He suggested the financing be restudied and an amount even greater than $75,000 be provided if possible.

Murray Shelly was appointed building inspector. Clifford Lefler, municipal clerk, turned in his resignation to the commission, giving pressure of other business as the reason.

New Quarters For Telephone Office

GANGES—The B.C. Telephone Company has moved its Ganges office into larger quarters to provide increased telephone facilities in the Salt Spring Island area.

The new quarters, which required extensive alterations, are in the former office of the provincial assessor and collector on Hereford avenue, about half a block from the old office.

The new position of switchboard will provide facilities for service to 75 additional telephones, and was connected up for operation by the time the new office officially opened for business. The original position of switchboard in the old quarters was then moved to the new office.

Since Jan. 1, 1946, number of telephones on Salt Spring Island has increased from 261 to 330. The increased facilities will take care of the 22 applications for service now on file and provide for future expansion.

Miss F. M. Attkens will continue as chief operator and commercial representative at the new office.

Hammocks Puzzle Traveling Scouts

ON BOARD H.M.C.S. WARRIOR AT SEA (CP)—Churning her way across the North Atlantic today the queen of Canada's fleet, the aircraft carrier Warrior, bore with her 24 sea cadets and 32 Boy Scouts bound for Europe on one of the greatest adventures of their lives.

On their arrival on board, a major problem immediately arose when the boys were presented with hammocks. At once the cadets made a knowing bee-line for good slinging spots, leaving the bewildered scouts to rely on willing members of the crew for aid and advice on the intricate art of staying in a hammock.

After a hapless first night, during which one of the scouts toppled from his perch four times, the boys began to get the knack of it, but there were some bruised scouts appearing at breakfast next morning.

The Halifax waterfront turned out en masse Saturday to bid the boys farewell. Once, at sea the boys swung quickly into their own activities, the scouts practicing rope spinning for the forthcoming jamboree in France, and both contingents competing in various sports.

Accused In Seattle Of Cattle Rustling

SEATTLE (AP)—Accused of cattle rustling Virgil Brown, 39, truck driver, was held Tuesday following his arrest Monday night in a hotel room on a "tip" to detectives armed with a grand larceny warrant.

Brown and two other men, both also now apprehended, were accused of stealing 12 calves from a corral south of Quincy last December, Grant County Prosecutor James F. Wickwire reported. The animals were taken in a truck to an isolated spot on the Columbia and butchered.

One of the other two men was recently convicted for the theft and the third man was arrested recently in California.

Two Men Killed In Brush Fire

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Two men were killed, two badly burned, and at least nine overcome by smoke Monday as they fought a brush fire flaring out of control in big Tujunga Canyon, north of Los Angeles in the Sierra Madre Range.

Sheriff's Sgt. J. F. Garvin said the dead men, identified as Carl Mastersen, 37, U.S. Forest Service worker, and Harry Duffy, 39, member of Deer Creek fire suppression camp, were caught in a draw and suffocated.

District Ranger M. W. Druham of the U.S. Forest Service, directing more than 300 fire fighters, said more than 100 cabins in the area were endangered. He said the fire was the worst in this area since 1924 and it might be 24 hours or more before it could be controlled.

Cowichan team—C. Green, captain, D. Chappell, A. St. John, D. V. Dunlop, A. E. Green, P. Gillespie, G. G. Bais, S. Hammond, H. Charter, D. Herd and R. Clegg. H. Graham, president of the club, was umpire.

Vancouver Baker To Stand Trial

VANCOUVER (CP)—Elmer Johnson, 25-year-old baker charged with the June 22 murder of Mrs. Norma Burton in Stanley Park here, was committed by Magistrate Mackenzie Matheson at a preliminary hearing Monday to stand trial for the slaying of the 27-year-old housewife.

A lengthy statement allegedly made by Johnson to police was read by City Prosecutor Oscar Orr. It quoted Johnson as saying that he left Mrs. Burton alive and well near Stanley Park's Lost Lagoon after she promised to see him the next day.

Boy Killed In Fall

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)—Twelve-year-old Elmer Stainke was fatally injured Tuesday when he was hurled off a day rack he was driving when the team of horses ran away and crashed into a tree. He struck a wagon wheel in falling off the rack.

IMPORTANT PRECEDENT

THE ORDER, ISSUED BY THE UNITED Nations Security Council under Chapter VII of the Charter, for the cessation of hostilities in Indonesia, will hold a far greater place in history than would be accorded the mere stoppage of a small-scale war. For it was the first time that the Council had issued such a demand to "cease fire" to two warring sides—in itself an epoch-making occurrence in international relations. By the same token, it was the first time in history that a sovereign nation, The Netherlands—quite apart from the Indonesians, whose status is still under dispute—had obeyed such an order. Both sides acted immediately—the message was received from the world organization.

There is an important principle involved in this obedience by the government of The Netherlands—a principle which may at first glance pass un-noticed by the casual observer of world affairs. For it must be remembered that to the Dutch, the Indonesian fighting was entirely in the nature of an internal matter—the Indonesians were "rebels," not a foreign country at war. Hence, in calling their troops to a halt, The Netherlands has given official recognition to the right of the international body to intervene. Apart from the merits of the conflict, it is to her everlasting credit that she complied so quickly with the Council's demand, and thereby, provided a precedent which we may hope to see followed in every future incident. To those who remember the fumbling and futile attempts to impose "sanctions" in the Italo-Ethiopian war, the present occasion is one for mutual congratulations and optimistic hopes.

AS IT SHOULD BE

WHILE OPINIONS DIFFER ON THE advisability or necessity of parking meters in Victoria, the general public—and particularly the motorist—will commend the City Council for its decision to earmark the funds derived from this new source of civic revenue for traffic improvements and efficient maintenance of the roads. This is as it should be.

As we pointed out in these columns a week ago, the automobile owners already pay a substantial price for the privilege of driving their own cars. Thus they are certainly entitled to consideration complementary to the new impost they are required to meet for the privilege of parking their vehicles in the downtown area.

Anything the City Council can do, and much remains to be done, to improve the streets within the municipal limits will not only redound to its own credit, but will also help to justify the new venture on which it has embarked.

BLACK DIAMONDS

MANKIND IS QUICK TO APPLY A name to the various periods in which it has lived or hopes to live. The Machine Age, the Age of Steel, the Atomic Age, are cases in point. But although we at present are in an epoch which is marked by vast sources of hydro-electric power, and on the threshold of a further indeterminate era in which atomic power will play its own enormous part in driving the industrial wheels of civilization, the present time should be marked in history as the Age of Coal. Apt to be overlooked by the average man in his assessment of world forces and developments, coal and its production at the moment are providing the chief problem—as well as the chief hope of successful solution—for five of the biggest countries of the world.

It needed only a few days of striking by United States miners for the coal shortage to be felt in almost every channel of industry in that country. Power, transportation, steel, manufacturing—all felt the pinch almost immediately. Even with production continuing, such is the basic quality of this commodity that a rise of a few cents in miners' wages is reflected throughout a host of other goods, which depend on coal for their production.

In Britain the problem is even more acute. The life of the nation virtually hangs on its ability to produce more coal, and thus increase the supply of manufactures for export. Failure in this regard would result in national bankruptcy for Britain. The government, which a short time ago reduced the miners' working week to five days in hopes of attracting more men into the pits, now is considering lengthening the week with payment of overtime rates for extra hours.

Details of the Russian situation are less widely known, but Soviet dependence on coal for the vast task of rehabilitation is recognized, as well as the importance of this industry in the carrying-out of the various five-year plans. In France the situation is even more serious. With her own mines not yet producing at capacity, that country is importing coal from the United States at a tremendous cost in trans-oceanic freight. So great is her need for exportable products of her own manufacture, that she is willing to expend large sums of her precious dollar balances in order to obtain the output of the American mines.

In Germany, the problem is engaging the serious attention of all four occupying powers. The coal mines of the Ruhr Valley were a source of power not only for German industry but also for many countries of Europe—France in particular. Today, German coal production is only about 220,000 tons a day, in contrast to a daily output of double that tonnage when the Nazi war effort was at its peak. British and American authorities will meet shortly to draft plans for increasing production to 300,000 tons by the end of this year, with hopes that thereafter it will reach at least 350,000 tons. The rehabilitation of the conquered country, along with that of the conquerors, depends very largely on coal.

ALPINE ANTICS

IT WAS PERHAPS UNFORTUNATE IN a way for Senora Evita Peron, wife of the Argentine dictator, that she was met with such effluent welcomes in the course of her recent visit to Spain, for it must have left her totally unprepared for what she was to encounter in other parts of Europe. Following a very cold reception in France, where a mere corporal's guard of hopefuls, without any official standing, turned out to greet her at the airport, rumors of still more frigid receptions in store north of the English channel sent the lady southwards again, ostensibly in solicitude for her health. She subsequently decided she would rather face the glaciers of Switzerland than the austere chilliness of the descendants of Cobden, Bright and Burke. But, to paraphrase the radio comedian, "she should have stood" in Capri.

Reports received from Switzerland on Tuesday reveal the relevancy of this mythical advice. At Berne, according to the dispatches, Evita was met, not with flowers as in Madrid, but with tomatoes—that succulent growth the identification of which as a vegetable or a fruit is still the subject of popular debate. At Lucerne—still quoting from the cabled stories—her welcome derived from the mineral kingdom. The blonde wife of the Argentine President received a shower of stones. The tomatoes were ascribed to Communists, but the origin of the pebbles was left uncertain. There must surely be enough good liberals remaining in Europe, especially in the freedom-loving land of Switzerland, to put such a question in the category of very minor mysteries.

SHOULD MAKE ALLOWANCES

IT IS MOST UNFORTUNATE THAT IN several cities in Great Britain there should have broken out within the last few days a violent manifestation against Jewry. Nor will it do to suggest that the machinations of fascism are at the root of this outburst of anti-semitism in such communities as Manchester, Liverpool, and Birmingham. Those who are familiar with the state of mind of the inhabitants of the great metropolitan area of Birmingham, for instance—the city over whose destinies the Radical-Liberal-Republican-Tory Joseph Chamberlain once presided—must be rubbing their eyes in wonderment as they read such placarded signs as this:

"Gentiles arise, Resist Jewish enterprise. Remember Palce and Martin."

The names mentioned in the foregoing, of course, are those of two British sergeants who were hanged by Jewish extremists in Palestine last week.

As we have already observed in these columns, the average Briton is a long-suffering person—slow to anger but resolute in his or her determination to right a wrong. The present situation is a difficult and perplexing one for a country which has opened its doors widely and freely to the oppressed. But, in view of all the circumstances, some allowances must be made for the temper of a people who have stood about all they could be expected to stand in the last few years. And if, contrary to the national trait, they unfortunately let themselves go under the influence of the present exasperating impulse, the people of the rest of the world ought to be able to understand and suspend judgment accordingly.

MARK AND LEARN

THERE IS SOMETHING RATHER PITIFUL in the announcement by the mayor of Hiroshima that a peace memorial will be erected on the site of the bomb explosion which two years ago today marked the finish of the Second World War and the commencement of the Atomic Age. One is reminded of other peace memorials and monuments to war dead. They could be seen in London during the blitz—memorials to "the war to end wars"—carefully sandbagged and protected against the bombs which once again were falling on the city. Citizens in Hiroshima observed their anniversary today with tolling bells and a minute's silence. It is well that the occasion should be remembered, but more important that its lesson should be recalled and emphasized. For another war, if it should come, could well be the "war to end war"—but not in the sense that mankind would like to achieve it.

Anybody can be thoughtful and generous, and therefore happy. It makes you feel so good to know you are so decent.

"A man's handwriting," says an expert, "will show whether he has drive." This is especially true of his signature on a $10,000 cheque.

Matter Of Fact

By JOSEPH and STEWART ALSOP

TWO GREAT HAZARDS

THROUGH THE turmoil of the day-to-day news, two vast facts show up like huge and menacing submerged rocks, which are now washed over, now left naked, in stormy weather. First, the Soviet Union is plainly giving serious thought to employing its obedient satellite states in new aggressive moves of the most critical character. Second, the slowness of American succor for a desperate Britain and Europe has permitted critical weakening of the western world's power to resist these aggressions if they are finally ordered by the Kremlin.

It is, of course, in the Greek situation that the first fact is most apparent. The American State Department and British Foreign Office have been in consultation for some time on the meeting of the various moves on the puppet side of the Greek frontier. And it can now be stated on excellent authority that a decidedly threatening significance is tentatively ascribed to these goings and comings in Bulgaria and Yugoslavia.

THE EVIDENCE for this tentative conclusion, so far as it has been disclosed, consists of items of information like the pieces of a puzzle. For example, it is now known that Yugoslavia has recruited and trained a Macedonian brigade from dissident Greek Macedonians, and has incorporated this unit in the Yugoslav army. The brigade is now reported stationed at Bitolj, in position for a move to "liberate the fatherland" if need be. At Sofia, in Bulgaria, "free" Macedonians have also been holding rallies for an independent Macedonia. And on several levels, culminating in the recent talks between Marshal Tito and George Dimitrov, representatives of the Yugoslav and Bulgarian governments have been in busy conference.

THESE AND OTHER bits of information have been fitted into the final conclusion, which is very simply that an offensive to establish a "free Macedonia" is now contemplated. It is thought that Tito and Dimitrov agreed upon plans for this effort.

It is thought further that the frontiers and organization of the new "free Macedonia" have already been decided upon. If the contemplated moves are undertaken and succeed, the "free Macedonian" capital will certainly be at Salonika, and it is considered probable that Tito and Dimitrov mean to supplement the territory of the new state with small portions of Yugoslav and Bulgarian territory. It is further assumed that the plans include the eventual establishment of a greater south Slav federation, comprising all the Kremlin's Balkan puppets, in which the new Macedonian "state" would play a role similar to Albania's.

AS STATED ABOVE, these conclusions are of course only tentative, and certain American analysts tend to dissent. The probable truth is that the plans described above (the existence of which will, of course, be denied with screeches of indignation) have actually been prepared, but for use on an if, as, and when basis. In short, these plans will be put in motion if the Kremlin calculates that the West will not react decisively. The Soviet veto of the proposed Balkan border commission plainly supports this interpretation.

Under the circumstances, the much better publicized developments in Britain take on an additionally alarming aspect. For some time, officials of the British government have been hinting both to our permanent representatives in London and to travelling high American officials, that something very serious might occur in the near future.

THE TRUTH IS THAT in their appalling economic situation, the British government had been consistently acting on the most hopeful assumptions. Now that events have instead substantiated all the gloomiest forecasts, the British are confronted with the catastrophic prospect of exhaustion of their resources for buying food and raw materials abroad before the Marshall plan can come into operation.

The result has been the series of emergency cabinet and Labor party meetings, at which the general contraction of British commitments has necessarily been agreed upon. The worst of it evidently is that plans for this contraction include withdrawal of the expensive garrison in Greece, as well as reduction of the British troops in Italy. The American government has long been notified that these moves would have to be made eventually, but in the face of the possibility of another push by the Kremlin, the timing could hardly be worse.

NONE THE LESS, there are two hopeful aspects of the situation. First, British are finally facing the harsh realities of their position, which in the long run may be healthy if the United States does its part. Second, in the event of an open threat of another Kremlin push, both governments are understood to have agreed already, in principle, to display the utmost firmness. The plight of Britain must obviously tempt the Kremlin, as does the chaos in Greece. Yet if the leaders of the Soviet Union are aware that true firmness will eventually be encountered, they can be counted on to be cautious in the end. Lenin once remarked that certain situations had to be "probed with bayonets," but the implication of this was that if the bayonets struck anything unyielding, it was time to call a halt.

One Man's 'Meat'

India Move Has Wide Repercussions

By MALLORY BROWNE, From London, in the New York Times

THE EAST, from Palestine to Japan, is feeling the effects of the British withdrawal from India.

Viewed from the perspective of London, that is the basic fact that seems to underlie much of the upheaval which has produced deep ripples from Suez to Singapore and beyond. The British are inclined to see in the outbreak of a Dutch colonial war in Indonesia, as in the assassination of Burmese leaders in Rangoon, repercussions of their own altered imperial policy as crystallized in the imminent transfer of power in India.

ON THE MOVE

There is certainly something in this assessment of events, though it is probably exaggerated. Britain's Labor government not only naturally tends to regard the seething unrest in Palestine and the difficulties of getting started on peace-making in Japan as directly related to its own policies. Writing from Singapore recently, a correspondent of The Times of London said, "The masses all over Asia are on the move." This is the fundamental postwar fact in Asia as in Jerusalem or Japan.

This widespread awakening of political nationalism would, of course, exist whether the government here in Whitehall were Labor or Conservative. It would also exist even if there were no Communist regime in Moscow to encourage and exploit it.

The picture is so broad and blurred, it is not easy to bring into clear focus. Looking at it from the perspective of a few years ago, no one would have believed that on Aug. 15, 1947, Britain would be leaving India.

MOSLEM STATE

Probably no one would have believed either that Britain would be leaving behind its erstwhile empire not one but two dominions of the British Commonwealth: Hindu India and Moslem Pakistan.

Probably the world has not even begun to grasp yet the full significance of this last item, namely the establishment of a separate independent Moslem state in the great subcontinent of Asia. The full force of its impact on the rest of the Arab world has hardly started to make itself felt.

SOME CRITICISM

There has been some criticism of the British government's policy. Time and Tide, a liberal independent weekly, wrote recently of Burma that "what was done was to confer freedom not on a population running into millions but on a particular set of leaders."

On the whole, however, the press and public in Britain condemn the Dutch government's action in resorting to major military operations in Java.

Similar charges are being leveled at the French by many British observers for their treatment of the crisis which has sprung up in Indo-China.

DOUBLY SERIOUS

Like the fighting in Indonesia and the assassinations in Burma, strife in Indo-China is bad enough in itself but doubly serious when considered as part of the whole Eastern and Near Eastern picture. In China, too, civil strife is raging.

In fact, peace in Asia—for that matter at many points between the eastern Mediterranean and the southern Pacific—is a precarious and relative thing. It needs to be carefully nursed and nurtured in China and Indo-China, in Java and Burma, in Palestine and Greece. The outlook is troubled, but cheered by a good start in India. Britain is hoping, if not for the best, at least to avoid the worst.

Freedom Of The Press In War

Following are extracts from an article "War-time Press Censorship in Canada," in the latest edition of the International Journal. It was written by Gillis Purcell, General Manager of the Canadian Press.

IN THE SIX years of the Second World War, the Canadian people were subjected to a press censorship as effective and almost as powerful—and potentially as politically dangerous—as any in the world. For the most part, they did not know about it.

Press censorship in Canada underwent marked changes as the war progressed. Indeed, the war was almost half over before the functions of censorship of publications were officially defined.

SINCERITY APPARENT

Looking back from the ivory tower of peacetime on the confusion of an unprepared nation readying itself for war, the sincerity of both the censors and the press is apparent. Neither knew just where the tightening grasp of security was leading; both stumbled and fumbled in the early months of the blackout. At first resentful of regimentation, the press came to accept it as inevitable. In point of fact, editorial criticism of censorship was restricted virtually to the first four months of the war—except for four outstanding incidents—and most of it centred on increasingly stringent rulings against reports of troops on the move.

Power Plans

Building and engineering work to the value of $300,000,000 is being started as a first instalment on the reconstruction of Britain's electric power stations. This is the preliminary stage of the government's program to supply the growing demand for electricity from both domestic and industrial users which was announced recently. It has more than doubled since 1938, increasing at the rate of 700,000 kilowatts each year. The rapid growth is still continuing too, as Britain's homes and factories revert to peacetime comfort and efficiency. The Ministry of Fuel assesses next winter's peak demand at 2,000,000 kilowatts.

Sixty-three building projects which will house plant capable of generating well over 5,000,000 kilowatts, are now advancing towards completion. In addition, plans for a further 13 stations providing another 1,250,000 kilowatts have been approved and work will start as soon as possible.

The case of the Drew letter (written by Premier Drew of Ontario to Prime Minister King) criticizing the training and equipment of the Canadian troops lost at Hongkong and suppressed by the censors) showed glaringly how continued censorship even on the voluntary basis, gradually deadens the newspapers' independence of thought and action. Had all the newspapers been insistent on publishing the letter—and done so—it is questionable that prosecution would have ensued.

GREATEST THREAT

Unqualified co-operation by the press was the key to the effectiveness of Canadian censorship—and carried the greatest threat to freedom of speech. Newspapers gradually felt the deadening effect of years of censorship and came to accept the censors' edicts unquestioningly.

This was the danger point in the balance. This was the time when the censors, knowing facts the press could not know, pressed hardest for the rights of the people against the conservative nature of bureaucracy. This was when the confidence newspapers too readily placed in censorship officials paid its greatest dividend.

GENTLY BUT FIRMLY

Canada might have had a straight military censorship for the last month of the war. Certain elements in the Department of National Defence and in the cabinet, dissatisfied with censorship during the conscription crisis of November 1944, were determined to amend the Defence of Canada Regulations. The Director of Censorship gently but firmly stated the case against military censorship in a memorandum of December 11, circulated to officers at National Defence Headquarters; it is questionable whether any newspaper presentation in opposition to a military censorship could have been more to the point.

Censorship in Canada in the Second World War was as fair to its people as censorship in any other country. But freedom of the nation's speech should never again be allowed to get into so dangerously precarious a position. The only guarantee against the ignorance and lassitude that can endanger freedom of speech is to give the press a place in the nation's security council with the government, the services, and the censors.

Global Survey

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press Foreign Affairs Analyst

FOREIGN SECRETARY ERNEST BEVIN isn't one to compromise with convictions, as witness his reiteration of the Labor government's policy of nationalizing the factories and mines of Germany's great Ruhr—a policy which the United States strongly opposes on the grounds that this is a matter for the German people themselves to decide.

One can admire—and surely cannot quarrel with—the constancy of Mr. Bevin. Still, it is given to wonder why he should find it necessary to emphasize such a highly controversial politico-economic issue at this tense moment in Britain's own economic crisis whose solution depends upon American largesse.

After all, if even "Heaven tempers the wind to the shorn lamb," surely John Bull might refrain from blowing the hot breath of socialist nationalization down the neck of the capitalist Uncle Sam.

Of course, it would be presumptuous for an American to raise the point of whether socialism is good for Britain, and this column doesn't refer to the subject in an argumentative way. That's for England to decide. However, in view of America's heavy involvement in the economic rescue of her ally, the question does arise whether British socialism is good for the United States.

THREAT TO ENTERPRISE

There is a good deal of quiet uneasiness in the United States over the economic aspects of British socialism as they relate to international affairs. The situation worries the practical businessman, who recognizes that it is the exercise of private initiative which has made his country the richest and most powerful of all time. He believes rightly or wrongly, that complete nationalization of a country means totalitarianism and the death of private initiative.

We got an indication of this feeling when Congress was debating the British loan a year ago. Some Congressmen wanted to know why United States dollars should be appropriated to save British socialism.

Well, the matter of helping finance the Marshall program for European economic rehabilitation presumably will come up in Congress in due course. And the signs are that the legislature will be even more searching in its inquiry than ever before.

England knows all this and for that reason one would think she would go slow on demanding nationalization in a foreign country like Germany. Such insistence on spreading Britain's politico-economic program abroad is unhappily suggestive of an international crusade. It isn't particularly good promotion for aid from America.

WARTIME ARTIST

London Calling
A real artist will paint pictures no matter how difficult the conditions under which he has to work may be. This was proved once again during the war by Charles Thrale, a commercial artist, who served in the Far East and was taken prisoner in Singapore, followed by three and a half years of misery and privation on the "Railway of Death" in Siam and, later, in a Japanese prison camp.

He painted dozens of pictures in those terrible years, and these are now on exhibition in Britain. The proceeds of the exhibition will start a fund to provide houses for completely disabled prisoners of war.
Thrale, who told his story of his work in captivity in a recent BBC program, had no materials with which to paint his pictures, and said, "A Chinese boy gave me his precious box of school-boy paints. . . a padre smuggled paints to me. I used crushed leaves that had any color in them—Indian ink—boiled rags—boiled book covers—anything. And I even used my own blood to tint my meagre mediums."

"Paper was a difficulty; I used old wrapping paper, music score sheets, anything. . . And once, when I saw the sunset over the Strait of Johore, I was so filled with the beauty of it that I gave two dinners for a fragment of something almost unbelievable, a piece of genuine cartridge paper. And when I had no brushes—well I plucked hair from my own head and fitted it to thin bamboo for a handle."

SCIENTISTS GAVE NAMES TO TERMS IN ELECTRICITY

When we study electricity, we find that several very special terms are used, including "volts," "amperes" and "ohms." Those three words came into our language from the names of men who were pioneers in the study of electricity.

The word "volt" came from the family name of Alessandro Volta. This man was an Italian, a professor at the University of Pavia. In our story yesterday we spoke of his fine work in making a pioneer electric battery.

A volt is a measure of an electric current. The voltage of a current may be compared to the pressure of falling water.

It is possible for a person to increase the voltage of a current if he handles an electric wire when his hands are wet, or when he stands in a wet place. This tends to make the current very dangerous and may bring death. It explains the special danger from touching anything electrical when a person is washing clothes, taking a bath, or washing his hands.

It seems strange that wetness can increase voltage, but that really happens. If we compare a current to a river going over a fall, the effect of wetness is like raising the height of the waterfall, several times. The same amount of water tumbles over the brink, but it has greater force when it strikes the points below.

The ampere is another measure of an electric current. It was given its name in honor of A. M. Ampere, a Frenchman.

Ampere lived in the time of Napoleon Bonaparte. As a child he grew keenly interested in the science of numbers. We are told that while his friends were playing games, he often would spend his time using pebbles to work out a problem of arithmetic or geometry.

Growing to manhood, Ampere became a professor at a French university. His success in the field of electricity led to the use of the word "ampere."

G. S. Ohm, a German scientist, was a professor in a college at Cologne. After long study of electricity, he published his ideas about electricity in the year 1827. Some of his ideas were new, and he felt that other scientists were too "cold" about agreeing with them. For years he was very lonely, but at last he was honored for his work, and his ideas were accepted widely. Today we speak of "ohms" to describe the resistance of wires which carry electric currents.

The DOCTOR Says:

WHEN THE THYROID IS FAULTY

By WILLIAM A. O'BRIEN, M.D.

Myxedema victims may complain of being cold even on hot days as their condition results from failure of the thyroid gland to maintain normal heat production in the body.

If the thyroid gland is destroyed by an infection, too much is removed in an operation or it just shrinks, symptoms of myxedema develop. Patients are usually women and, in the majority of cases, the disease starts insidiously.

In myxedema the appearance of the patient is so striking that there is not much difficulty in recognizing the change. Chief complaints are weakness, fatigue, swelling of the face and eyelids and a dry, cold, pale skin. The hair is dry and thin and tends to fall out. The eyebrows are scraggly especially in the outer halves.

Too much reliance should not be placed on a low (minus) metabolic rate, in the absence of symptoms suggesting myxedema. Metabolism tests are breathing tests which measure the consumption of oxygen over a given period of time. While thyroid extract may be helpful in some patients whose only sign of an underactive thyroid gland is a low metabolic rate, in more patients it will fail if other signs of myxedema are not present.

SUPPLEMENT THYROID

Myxedema is treated by administering measured doses of the dried thyroid gland of an animal in tablet or capsule form. This corrects symptoms resulting from the failure of the thyroid gland to function, by substituting animal thyroid gland for it. After patient's condition has been restored to normal it is necessary for him to continue taking this extract in adequate doses the rest of his life.

When myxedema occurs in a child the patient will not develop normally unless he is given adequate doses of thyroid extract. Children may take this medicine without harm provided the necessary dose is not exceeded.

JOHNS-MANVILLE

JUST WHAT THE WEATHER ORDERED

Remember the old saying,

"Just what the Doctor ordered?"

Well here's something that's just what the weather ordered.

Johns-Manville Cedargrain Siding Shingles.

Made of two practically imperishable materials, asbestos and cement, J-M Cedargrains were designed to protect your home from weather's worst.

But they're more than weather-proof—they're rot-proof, and fireproof. In fact, in over 35 years not one J-M asbestos shingle has ever worn out—not one has ever burned!

You'll find Cedargrains ideal for new building and in re-modelling they can be applied right over exterior walls of clapboard, stucco or wood shingles. Telephone Exchanges Throttled by "General Shortages"

Interferes with Quality of Service

Our telephone exchanges are short of equipment. There isn't enough machinery for the dial exchanges and not enough switchboard for the exchanges served by operators. And we can't get deliveries of equipment fast enough.

But we have thousands of people waiting for telephone service and so we are connecting more and more telephone lines to the equipment which we have. This seems the fairest thing to do.

It means that our switchboards and our dial machinery are overloaded. They are being worked beyond their normal capacity.

Because telephone operators and automatic switches are often called upon to cope with more calls than they normally should, the quality of the service is naturally affected.

We can't spread the lines out among more dial machinery or switchboards because we can't get this equipment fast enough from the factories, which are deluged with orders.

In the case of exchanges having switchboards, our operators have, on the average, less experience than formerly and therefore they cannot handle calls as rapidly. We cannot add more operators to compensate for this as we can't get the switchboard to accommodate them.

But we are doing our utmost to cope with these problems and our five-year plan of improvement and expansion is under way.

Saanich In Favor Of Compulsory Health Insurance

Saanich Council at Monday's meeting went on record as being in favor of compulsory contributory health insurance and promised its full support to any move for its institution.

A motion to this effect was passed by the council after Councillor J. Len Hobbs, who is also president of the board of directors of the Royal Jubilee Hospital, disclosed that the institution was facing serious financial problems.

Councillor Hobbs pointed out that hospital expenditures had gone up during the past five years due to increased wages and shorter hours of work which required the taking on of additional staff.

"I am not against shorter hours of work or increased wages," he said, "but all these changes have increased expenditures. Sooner or later something will have to be done to solve the problem."

Reeve E. C. Warren added that the present system of grants from each municipality and the provincial government was not adequate to meet the needs of the hospital. There was only one answer to the problem, he said, and that was compulsory health insurance.

Reeve Warren said the burden of supporting hospitals had fallen on the ratepayers which he described as unfair.

"If the provincial government does not now institute compulsory health insurance when everybody has money," he said, "it will never be able to do so later."

The council was informed by Councillor Hobbs that the board of directors of both Victoria hospitals would soon confer with provincial authorities on the problem and would probably bring up the question of compulsory health insurance as a means of solving the financial problem.

The council promised to support the hospitals in any move to bring about the institution of compulsory health insurance.

Chiefs Told Word 'Democracy' Used To Attract Youth To 'Isms'

"The convention gave me an opportunity of conferring with fellow chiefs, thus seeing conditions in other police districts through the Dominion, and enabled me to gain experience I feel will be of much value to the Victoria Police Department," reported Chief of Police John A. McLellan to the Victoria Police Commission in giving an outline of the 42nd annual parley held in Montreal in June.

The convention covered a wide variety of police problems, the most notable being present-day crime problems—including the juvenile department—traffic safety, police training, remission and parole, police radio and law enforcement generally.

The Victoria chief mentioned several outstanding speakers at the convention, including Inspector John J. McGuire, representing J. Edgar Hoover's F.B.I. of the United States' Department of Justice; Edward J. Hickey, commissioner of the Connecticut State police; H. A. R. Gagnon, O.B.E., deputy commissioner of the R.C.M.P.; and Hon. Joseph Jean, K.C., M.P., Solicitor-General of Canada.

Chief McLellan, who was elected an executive member for British Columbia in the association, thought that Inspector McGuire's address of police work in crime cases particularly interesting in his summing up of the effect of the war on the juvenile crime situation and the outlook for the future.

Insp. McGuire, he said, pointed out that in addition to the backwash of disrupted lives caused by the war, there was a juvenile delinquency problem, which had passed the first cycle and was in the process of passing the second cycle, namely that of the hardened criminal.

"Juveniles are still a problem, but the greatest age group, which was 17 in 1945, have now become adults," Inspector McGuire was quoted as saying, and warning that certain conditions may well lead to a third—public apathy and indifference of certain individuals who failed to report offences when they see them committed."

DESTRUCTIVE MATERIALISM

The chief reported the inspector's bitter against what he termed the "materialistic philosophy preached by some people." He saw in this era a change in the relationship between parents and children, the breaking of family ties, and a materialistic philosophy which denied the existence of a free will among men.

The inspector described this philosophy as "destructive, a condition which will eventually make an automaton of men" and considered it the duty of police officers to halt the evil.

In view of the fact the Victoria police started training classes at the beginning of the year, the address of U.S. Commissioner Hickey was very helpful, said Chief McLellan.

The Connecticut official, he said, threw out a warning that at this time "when the very basis of our democratic way of life is being attacked by alien 'isms' boring from within, an efficient and loyal police service can be the means of maintaining those ideals which we have fought so long and so hard to preserve."

Mr. Jean spoke to the convention on remission and parole, and Chief McLellan said

Saanich Unable To Relax Water Restrictions

The situation relative to water in Saanich is still such that we cannot relax our restrictions in the slightest," said Reeve E. C. Warren at a meeting of the Saanich council Monday.

Several applications from commercial concerns for permission to use more water were turned down by the council on the grounds that the procedure would prevent the filling of the municipality's main reservoirs which at present is done during the night.

One applicant, a farm operator, claimed that he needed extra water to save a $10,000 tomato crop.

"I don't see why he can't sink wells like other farmers are doing," commented Councillor Len Hobbs. "If we grant water to one we have to grant the same to others. There is nothing we can do about the situation."

With regard to a request from the Provincial government for additional water service on Glyn Road for fire protection for the Provincial Mental Home, the council felt that the government should be asked to pay a share of the cost of any additional installation required.

Councillor John Oliver pointed out the government had already acquired large tracts of land in the area and was not paying any municipal taxes. "If they need more water, let them pay for it," he said.

Late Puckster's Wife Drowns In Rainy Lake

WINNIPEG (CP)—Mrs. Audrey Van Vliet, 40, who was drowned Sunday in Rainy Lake at Port Frances, Ont., Tuesday was identified as the widow of Group Capt. Wilbur D. Van Vliet, star football and hockey player who served with the R.C.A.F. during the Second World War at Winnipeg, Ottawa, Camp Borden and Trenton, Ont.

Group Capt. Van Vliet, who helped to organize the Winnipeg Flying Club and others elsewhere in Canada, was born in Winnipeg and educated at St. John's Technical High School and Manitoba University.

Widely known as the "Flying Dutchman," he commanded No. 110 Army Co-operation Squadron when it became the first R.C.A.F.

Saanich Support For Bridle Paths

The Saanich Council at a meeting Monday promised its full co-operation to the Tourist Trade Group of the Chamber of Commerce in establishing adequate bridle paths in the municipality.

The Tourist Trade Group in a letter to the council urged the establishment of bridle paths for horse-back riders, and suggested likely routes for the paths. It was also suggested that horse-back riding be permitted on Cadboro Bay Beach every day except Sundays and holidays.

unit to be sent overseas. He died at Victoria in 1942.

Mrs. Van Vliet, born in Port Frances, is survived by three children.

Promptly at 4.30, His Honor the Lieutenant Governor and Mrs. Charles A. Banks will leave Government House to mingle with their guests for one hour, returning to the mansion about 5.30, 3,000 guests including all those at 5.30.

Invitations have been issued to who signed the visitors' book in the main entrance at Government House since the Christmas reception. Many out-of-town guests from Vancouver and other island points will also be present.

Afternoon tea will be served on the lower lawn from huge marquees erected under the trees.

The attractive gardens with their lily pools, wide flower borders bright with summer bloom and velvety green lawns, always so much admired by Government House guests are being specially groomed by a staff of gardeners for the party.

Add Proteins To Summer Greens

Bowls of fresh greens, lettuce, romaine, watercress, parsley and other garden blessings, call for some kind of delicate protein accompaniment. Here's a suggestion:

Cottage Cheese Salad Balls

(Makes 9 balls, 1½ inches in diameter)

Two cups cottage cheese, ½ teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon chopped chives or onions, 1 tablespoon chopped pimiento, 1 cup corn flakes.

Drain cottage cheese until very dry. Add salt, chives and pimiento; mix well. Shape into small balls; roll in slightly crushed corn flakes. Serve at once as a garnish with a tossed vegetable salad.

Ever try an old-fashioned sour cream spice cake to take the family's mind off the heat?

Sour Cream Spice Cake

One-third cup butter (or other shortening), 1½ cups sugar, 3 eggs, 2 cups sifted cake flour, 1 teaspoon nutmeg, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 2 tablespoons cocoa, ½ teaspoon soda, ¾ cup sour cream, 1 teaspoon vanilla, ¾ cup chopped nut meats.

For topping: red jam, coconut. Cream butter thoroughly. Add sugar. Cream together until well blended. Add the eggs, one at a time. Beat until light and fluffy after the addition of each egg. Sift dry ingredients together. Add one-fourth of dry ingredients to the butter mixture. Blend well, then alternate the adding of the cream and the remainder of the dry ingredients. Fold in vanilla and nuts. Pour into greased oblong pan (8x12x2 inches) and bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 35 to 40 minutes. Cool cake. Shortly before serving, spread with cherry or any kind of bright red jam. Then sprinkle coconut across the top.

Baked Fish—One (3 to 4 pound) fish, 2 teaspoons salt, paprika, 1 recipe stuffing, 2 tablespoons melted butter or salad oil. Have fish cleaned and prepared for stuffing. Wash thoroughly and wipe with cloth. Rub cavity with salt. Stuff and sew edges together with heavy thread. Place on greased oven-proof platter or baking pan and brush with melted butter or salad oil. Sprinkle paprika lightly over top. Bake in hot oven 30 to 40 minutes, until well browned. Garnish with quartered lemon.

Radish Roses—Select firm rather-long radishes with unwilted leaves. Wash thoroughly and cut tops, leaving about 1 inch of stem on each. With a thin, sharp knife, cut thin slices lengthwise almost through the radish. Chill in ice water.

Cucumber Wheels—Peel cucumber; using a four-tined fork, score the cucumber lengthwise, then cut in thin slices. Chill in ice water to crisp.

Carrot Curis—Wash and scrape tender young carrots. Using an apple corer, shave off thin pieces

Raw Vegetable Platter Perks Up Appetites

Fresh vegetable appetizers enliven summer meals.

Everybody enjoys a dish of radish roses, celery curls, cucumber wheels and other summery novelties as the first course of a hot day dinner.

Radish Roses—Select firm rather-long radishes with unwilted leaves. Wash thoroughly and cut tops, leaving about 1 inch of stem on each. With a thin, sharp knife, cut thin slices lengthwise almost through the radish. Chill in ice water.

Cucumber Wheels—Peel cucumber; using a four-tined fork, score the cucumber lengthwise, then cut in thin slices. Chill in ice water to crisp.

Carrot Curis—Wash and scrape tender young carrots. Using an apple corer, shave off thin pieces lengthwise. Curl each piece around your finger and drop into ice water.

Carrot Straws—Wash, scrape tender young carrots and cut in quarters, then cut in narrow strips about 3 inches long.

Cauliflower Flowerettes—Wash carefully by running under cold water; then separate raw cauliflower into flowerettes. Chill in salted ice water until crisp.

Scallions—Wash well, trim green stalks. Peel onions if skin is loose or shriveled and chill in ice water.

Celery Hearts—Wash celery carefully. Remove outer stalk and save for salads or use in cooking. Trim root end and cut to an oval shape. Cut through in thirds or quarters. Crisp in ice water.

Fruit Salad—½ cup diced cantaloupe, ¼ cup cubed oranges, ¼ cup diced fresh pineapple, ¼ cup sliced bananas, ¼ cup marshmallows—quartered, 2 tablespoons sugar, 1 cup gingerale, ½ cup lemon juice, ¼ bunch mint, minced, watercress, mint sprigs.

Jelly Appetizers

A cool jelly, salad or dessert is the most satisfying food in hot weather, and the consumer section of the Dominion Agricultural Department says innumerable combinations of fruits or vegetables can be made with a basic jelly.

Fruity lemon gelatin mixtures have been found ideal as a basic jelly for fruits in season to make either salad or dessert. Whole fresh berries molded in this jelly are particularly attractive both to eye and palate.

Foundation Jelly For Fruits: One tablespoon gelatin; ½ cup sugar; ¼ teaspoon salt.

Soften gelatin in cold water for five minutes. Add hot water, lemon juice, sugar and salt. Stir until sugar is dissolved. Cool slightly before adding fruit. This amount, with 1½ cups fruit makes six servings.

Soft, Smooth Hands—Relieve redness, roughness, keep skin soft with fragrant, mildly medicated CUTICURA Soap and Ointment. Buy at your druggist's today!

Deviled Wings—Six chicken wings, ¼ cup fat, 1 teaspoon mustard, ½ teaspoon paprika, few grains of cayenne, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon vinegar, 2 tablespoons water, 1 cup soft, buttered bread crumbs. Place pieces of chicken in a baking dish. Mix fat with seasoning and spread over chicken. Add water. Sprinkle with crumbs and bake, covered, in a moderately slow oven, for one hour; or cook, covered, on top of stove over very low heat for 45 to 60 minutes.

Fruit Turnovers—One cup all-purpose flour or 1 cup and 2 tablespoons pastry flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, 2 teaspoons sugar, 3 tablespoons fat, 1 egg, ¼ cup milk. Mix and sift dry ingredients. Cut in fat. Reserve half of egg white for brushing tops. Beat the remainder of the egg and add to milk. Add to dry ingredients. Turn out on a flour board and knead for 30 seconds. Roll out ¼ inch thick and cut with a cookie cutter.

Salad Dressing—Thoroughly beat 2 eggs in top of double boiler. Mix 2 tablespoons sugar, ½ tablespoon flour, ¼ cup pineapple juice, and stir into eggs. Place over bottom part of double boiler and cook for about 15 minutes or until mixture is thick; stir frequently. Remove from heat and cool. Add 1 tablespoon lemon juice. Whip ½ cup whipping cream and fold into cooled egg mixture. Serve on fruit salad, arranged in glass individual deep pie dishes.

Berry Colors May Mislead

There is a vast difference between a blackberry and a raspberry. Don't depend on the color to keep you straight. The raspberry, a round, juicy morsel made up of tiny cells or "drupelets," slips right off the central core when you pick it. The berry itself is round and hollow. Black raspberries are sometimes called blackcaps.

Dewberries look so much like blackberries that most people can't tell the difference. The blackberry grows on a bush that supports itself. The dewberry comes from a trailing vine that twines round and round the stakes put up by the grower. Dewberries are usually found on the market earlier than blackberries.

LUSCIOUS BERRIES PERISHABLE

The loganberry and boysenberry are trailing blackberry types raised principally in the west. Large, luscious and highly perishable, they rarely reach eastern markets for fresh distribution. Easterners generally buy these frozen or canned. When the loganberry was first marketed, incidentally, it was known as the "blaspberry," a word developed from "raspberry" and "blackberry." Youngberries are another variety of trailing blackberry that thrives in the west.

Gooseberries are green, round and smooth. Unlike such berries as the raspberry and blackberry, composed of many drupelets, the gooseberry goodness is contained in a single, tart cell. Currants, too, are round, smooth and tart. They are much smaller than gooseberries, however and are a gleaming orange-scarlet in color.

Dorothy Dix

Dear Dorothy Dix—I have been married for a year, but have only lived with my husband for two months on account of my mother's intense hatred for him, which is utterly unjustifiable. I love my husband dearly, but I live with my mother.

Please tell me the right thing to do. The time has now come when he says I must make my choice between them.

UNHAPPY WIFE.

Answer—Your duty is to go to your husband. When you got married, you took a solemn oath at the altar to forsake all others and to cleave unto him until death. You can't break that promise for no better reason than that your mother doesn't like your husband.

Your mother is a wicked woman to try to separate you from your husband because she doesn't like him. If you stay with her, you will eat your heart out for the man you love, and you will probably wreck his life also, because you will put him in an untenable position, that of a man who loves a woman too weak to have the courage of her own affections, and assert her right to live with her husband.

Don't let a spiteful and foolish old woman blight two lives.

Strike Postponed In East Kootenay

VANCOUVER (CP)—A strike of about 2,000 members of the International Woodworkers of America (I.W.A.) in the East Kootenay district has been postponed indefinitely, it was announced here Monday following a meeting at Nelson of lumber operators and union officials.

The strike which had been scheduled to begin at noon today is postponed until union officials report to the I.W.A. members and receive instructions.

Union officials said, however, they would recommend rejection of operators proposals.

Lumber operators offered at the meeting attended by William Fraser, British Columbia labor conciliator, that they would pay a 12 1/2 cents-an-hour pay increase demanded by the I.W.A. with no change in last year's contract.

If this proposal was not acceptable to the I.W.A., the operators would as an alternative pay a 12 1/2 per cent wage increase and alter the contract to cut from 90 to 45 the number of days worked by a new employee to become eligible for the wage rate.

Ceiling Removed On Cast Iron Scrap

OTTAWA (CP)—The Prices Board announced last night that price ceilings on cast iron scrap will be removed, effective today, in an effort to speed up the seasonal collection and delivery of cast iron scrap, an important material used by foundries in the production of castings and soil pipe.

The board emphasized that the move relates to cast iron scrap only and all types of steel scrap remain under price control.

British Lumber Party Leave United Kingdom

LONDON (Reuter)—Forty members of a British lumber import delegation, invited to Canada by the government of British Columbia, leave Liverpool today in the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Canada.

They will spend two months visiting principal timber producing centres in British Columbia and meeting eastern Canadian lumber representatives in Toronto and Montreal. W. A. McAdam, agent-general in London for British Columbia, will accompany the delegation.

LONDON—Overseas visitors to Britain no longer have to procure ration cards during the first four weeks of their visit if they are staying in an establishment which provides meals. Visitors not staying in catering establishments still need to obtain ration cards.

Denver Man Claims English Baronetcy

LONDON (CP)—Search for the heir to the sixth Baronetcy of Lurran, Fermanagh, started by Cyril Hankinson, editor of De-brett's Peerage, now has brought a claim from Robert Hardinge of Denver, Colo.

Hankinson said the claim had resulted from a Canadian Press story last June reporting the search for the missing heir who would succeed Sir Charles Hardinge, the fifth baronet, now living in London.

"There is every indication that this Mr. Hardinge is the rightful heir," Hankinson said, "since he offers proof that he is the son of Edmund Cecil Hardinge who emigrated to Canada from England in 1890."

The cable from Denver read: "In response to search by De-brett's Peerage as reported by the Canadian Press, I am Robert Hardinge, son of Edmund Cecil Hardinge. Papers establishing identity following."

Hankinson said further inquiries would be made as soon as the papers are received.

The Canadian Press story on the search last June resulted from a cable to Hankinson from John Lawson King of Vancouver. King said that his father's name had been Hardinge but that he changed it to King when he emigrated to Canada.

At that time Hankinson said it was unlikely that King is the heir since his father was born in 1842. Hankinson explained that the heir is the son of Edmund Cecil Hardinge who was born in 1870 and who probably died in Canada around 1895, survived by one son and one daughter.

Police Capture Youth After Fight

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—A gun fight in the railroad yards here early today ended in the capture of a 19-year-old Illinois youth and no damage to participants.

Detective Leonard Shaffer said the prisoner, booked on a charge of assault with a dangerous weapon, identified himself as Carol James Berry, Paris, Ill., and said he had been absent without leave from Coast Island Naval Station, San Francisco, since May.

Victorians Heading Party On Aerial Survey Of Coast Route

Victorians will play a leading part in the exhaustive aerial investigation to be made this summer of a route north from Hazelton in preparation for the day when a new highway will be built to the Yukon and Alaska in the British Columbia coastal region.

A. D. Wight, 1840 King's Road, a sergeant-major in the Royal Canadian Engineers, will be in charge of an Anson plane from which a specially-trained crew of war veterans, who were flying over enemy-occupied Europe a few years ago, will take pictures of the vast expanse of mountains, forest, lake and river wilderness, looking for suitable valleys and plains through and over which a highway could successfully, and as cheaply as possible, be built.

With him will be A. M. Barber, an ex-fighter pilot, and Clifford A. E. Matson, former R.C.A.F. pilot, both of Victoria.

G. S. Andrews, in charge of aerial surveys for the Lands Department here, had personal experience with tri-metrogon photography in the European theatre.

The Anson aircraft to be used will be fitted with three electrically-driven cameras, the centre one taking a vertical view straight down to the ground, the starboard and port cameras continuing the centre view to the horizons. A stretch of country 25 miles across is thus contained in the three pictures when they are fitted together. The plane will fly at 17,000 feet, so oxygen will be continually necessary for the crew.

Lands and Forests Minister E. T. Kenney, is taking a keen personal interest in the investigation and has held many conferences on the matter with Norman R. Stewart, surveyor-general, who is familiar with the country after many years of surveying in the wilds of the north.

The coast route to Alaska and the Yukon has been on paper for many years. Parts of it have been surveyed by parties on foot and horseback, but there are many areas where the topography is little known. Only photography from an airplane will tell the story.

British Death Duties Take Bulk Of Bennett Estate Of $3,515,280

LONDON (CP)—A brother and two nephews of Viscount Bennett, former Canadian Prime Minister who died June 27 in the English country home to which he retired, are principal heirs to his gross estate of $3,515,280 ($3,515,280) it was disclosed today in his will submitted to probate.

His brother, R. V. Bennett of Sackville, N.B., receives 50 per cent of the income from the estate after death duties of $568,055 and various minor bequests have been deducted. His nephews, R. B. Coates, 31, Montreal, and W. R. B. Herridge, 15, Ottawa, each receive 20 per cent of the balance invested as part of a trust estate.

Following the death of R. V. Bennett, the nephews each receive 25 per cent of the annual income, but after Coates reaches the age of 40 he receives 40 per cent of the estate. Herridge will receive 70 per cent of the balance when he is 35, with the remaining 30 per cent going to the Province of New Brunswick.

A spokesman for Barclay's Bank, executors for Lord Bennett, said "by far the greater part of the estate was invested in the United Kingdom," but declined details.

Viscount Bennett left a host of mementoes to friends and organizations, underlining many aspects of his busy life.

Cash legacies include £1,000 each to H. A. Turner, Vancouver, and his daughter, Phyllis, and son, Donald. A legacy of £1,000 also was left to his secretary, Alice Millar, "for whom I have made some provision," and who will occupy Viscount Bennett's estate of Juniper Hill, Surrey, for three months from his death.

Other legacies go to various charities in England. Coates and Herridge share specified books and plate from Juniper Hill and bequests of plate were made to Canadian friends.

R. V. Bennett will receive the residue of the personal belongings from Juniper Hill.

A collection of Canadiana, works of history and Gissing's painting, "Three Sisters," presented to Viscount Bennett by the City of Calgary Jan. 11, 1939, were left to the Royal Empire Society along with a bust of himself.

Viscount Bennett left the Royal Society for the Encouragement of Arts sculpture including a bronze buffalo presented him by the Canadian Legion at Calgary in 1939 and a bronze cowboy presented by the Calgary Kiwanis Club.

If either nephew dies, their children will divide the father's share of the estate equally with the capital held in trust until each reaches the age of 30. If there is no lawful issue the nephew's nephews become the heirs.

Lovers Of Outdoors Await 'The Yearling'

It is seldom a motion picture comes along to interest sportsmen and lovers of the outdoors. "The Yearling" is such a picture. Both as a wholesome human story to inspire young and old, and as an exciting drama in a natural setting, "The Yearling" is coming to the Royal Theatre Friday.

"The Yearling" was awarded a citation by the Outdoor Writers' Association of America in recognition of its outdoor life photography and sympathetic treatment of the subject.

DOMINION THEATRE

Monte Hale, star of Republic's "Out California Way," now filming at the Dominion Theatre, has written a number of western ballads since his arrival in Hollywood, quite a few of which have been used in his pictures. Adrian Booth co-stars with him in the film, a musical-western in true color.

YORK THEATRE

Following its sensational successful policy of bringing memorable best sellers to the screen, 20th Century-Fox has filmed John Hersey's Pulitzer prize-winning novel, "A Bell For Adano." The film starring Gene Tierney, John Hodiak and William Bendix is currently at the York Theatre.

"A Bell For Adano" was directed by Henry King and produced by Louis D. Lighton and Lamar Trotti.

PLAZA THEATRE

Blank ammunition, in recent years restricted to use only for military ceremonies, has been released in sufficient quantities of late for filming of realistic moving picture battles. Over 3,000 rounds were used in Cinecolor scenes for Rex Beach's "Michigan Kid." Universal romantic action film now at the Plaza Theatre. On the business end of the firearms in this frontier story are John Hall, Victor McLaglen and Andy Devine, who co-star with Rita Johnson.

The winner of the tie—expected to be Australia—will go on against Czechoslovakia's team here the week following for the right to challenge the United States for the historic cup.

Cobb Optimistic Of Setting New Record

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—John Cobb, London fur broker and holder of the world land speed record tonight termed "optimistic" the possibility of his reaching 400 miles an hour during his run on the Bonneville salt flats Aug. 15.

Cobb, who gunned his car designed by Fred Ralton over the flats 120 miles west of here in 1939 to set the 369.9 miles an hour record, did not estimate a probable top speed for the coming run.

Ralton arrived here from San Francisco shortly before Cobb and indicated a speed of 380 miles an hour is not out of the question.

The designer of the long sleek Ralton mobile special pointed out that the only major change in the vehicle since Cobb set the record has been a mechanism to ease shifting gears.

Starring Role Planned For Corey In Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Stage actor Wendell Corey will return from London, where he is appearing with Margaret Sullivan in "Voice of the Turtle," to discover he has been given starring status.

Corey, who made a stage hit with Betty Field in "Dream Girl," was introduced in "Desert Fury" and featured in "I Walk Alone," both unreleased pictures. His boss, Hal Wallis, now announces Corey will star in "Be Still, My Love," for which Barbara Stanwyck has been named. It will be Wallis' first film at Paramount after his return from Europe.

Ann Sheridan, who hasn't overworked in the past few years, will have done four pictures in 1947.

"Things will be different in '48," she says. She plans only two next year. Says Annie: "I can't get out of a role simply by changing costume. It takes time for me to wear off a role."

Robert Cummings as "Larry Parks" for Hoagy Carmichael is a possibility if Bob approves the script of Triangle's "The Stardust Road," which will be based on Hoagy's biography. The story will use the composer's music, but stick to the jazz days of the '20s, producer Ralph Cohn told me.

Zavier Cugat is going to see how South Americans go for Latin music, Cugat style. He plans a six-month tour of the continent. It will be his first appearance there and it will be interesting to see how the Latins react to his Americanized rhumbas and sambas.

Our Pismo Beach reader wants to know who are the top five Hollywood news personalities, including Shirley Temple. At the risk and hope of starting controversy, I'll name them—Bob Hope, Bing Crosby, Ingrid Bergman and Clark Gable. Those four and Shirley are the stars in whom the reading public is most interested.

ATLAS THEATRE

Paramount's "Easy Come, Easy Go," hilarious comedy-romance starring Barry Fitzgerald, Diana Lynn and Sonny Tufts is at the Atlas Theatre.

A riotous treatment of life under the "EI" on New York's fabulous Third Avenue, the film features Dick Foran, Frank McHugh, Allen Jenkins, John Littel, Arthur Shields (Barry Fitzgerald's brother) and Frank Faylen. John Farrow directed.

ROYAL THEATRE

She left it outside, beneath her second story bedroom window, one night after a hard day's work on "The Homestretch," new 20th Century-Fox technicolor hit in which she is co-starred with Cornel Wilde, and which is now at the Royal Theatre.

Just before daylight, a strange sound awakened her. Thinking that someone was trying to make off with the car, she roused her husband who hastened downstairs only to find a woodpecker engaged at pecking away on the wooden panels.

CAPITOL THEATRE

The way Dennis Morgan mounted a horse for a scene in Warner Bros. "Cheyenne," now at the Capitol Theatre, failed to please director Raoul Walsh, who recounted a story to emphasize the importance of good cinema horsemanship.

Some years ago, Walsh said, when William S. Hart had passed the peak of his career as a western screen hero, the director attended a theatre in a Nevada town where a Hart film was playing. During the screening, Hart made a clumsy mount of his horse and two westerners arose from their seats in the theatre and fired their guns at the cowboy on the screen, causing something little short of a riot.

"Let that be a lesson to you, Dennis," Walsh warned.

Australians Rule Heavy Choice To Beat Canadian Stars

MONTREAL (CP)—With the Australians favored heavily to sweep through to the next round against Czechoslovakia, the draw was to be made today for the Davis Cup test starting here tomorrow between Canada and Australia.

Drop-shot artist Henri Rochon and blond Brendan Macken, both of Montreal, will hold down the singles spots on the Canadian team, but Australia's singles players will not be known until the official draw is made by 11-year-old David Leslie, son of president Charlie Leslie of the Canadian Lawn Tennis Association.

Roy Cowling, captain of the Australian team, has not given any indication about which of his players will compete in the singles, although it is felt that he will make his pick from among Geoff Brown, Jack Bromwich and Dinny Pails.

British Freighter Bound For Hudson Bay With Large Cargo

OTTAWA (CP)—Already bedeviled by two major marine mishaps this summer, Hudson Bay enters on its bob-tailed commercial shipping season this week with all hands hoping trouble doesn't strike in three.

The first freighter of the new season was bound up Hudson Strait today on the way to Churchill, Man., Canada's northerly grain-shipping port, and Trade Department officials here said she would be followed by several more before the close of navigation in about nine weeks.

As the British freighter Essex Trader headed the inbound procession of ships as she did last year, she was threading the same route through the strait as the R.M.S. Nascopie, the ill-fated Hudson's Bay Company supply ship that cracked off Cape Dorset a few weeks ago and was abandoned as a total loss.

And near her destination lay the bones of another company supply vessel—The Neophyte—which followed the Nascopie to a sea grave in the icy waters by only a few days to mark down this season as one of the most unfortunate in the history of northern shipping.

Despite the adverse luck of her predecessors, the Essex Trader was being sent in to do something of a trail-blazing job. Not only was the 7,327-ton vessel due to take out a substantial tonnage of grain for Britain, but she was carrying about the largest inbound cargo ever destined for Churchill.

Aboard the Trader was a consignment of steel plate, window glass, linen, chinaware, automobiles, machinery and whisky, loaded at Newcastle-on-Tyne for the Prairie provinces.

The Essex Trader's cargo will amount to considerably more than the aggregate inbound foreign tonnage of the last five years for Churchill, first discovered in 1619 and developed as a northern harbor about 16 years ago.

Figures given by "Foreign Trade," organ of the trade department's foreign service, show that only 37 tons from outside Canada passed over Churchill's national harbors board's docks in those five years. In the same period, some 114,000 tons of grain were moved out to foreign destinations.

As leader of these arrivals, the Essex Trader will be greeted at Churchill with ceremony. A special train was due to carry a group from Saskatchewan to meet the ship. Leaving Regina today, the train was to carry representatives of the Saskatchewan's Government, the C.N.R. Wheat Pool, the Saskatchewan Associated Chambers of Commerce and the Bay Route Association.

May Make Whisky From B.C. Wheat

VANCOUVER (CP)—Whisky in British Columbia may be made from wheat grown in the province if a satisfactory deal can be worked out between the farmers and distillers, it was learned here Tuesday.

Under the proposed arrangement the distillers should be able to save money and farmers in the province make more than other wheat growers. Many of the B.C. farmers this year have a chance to sell their wheat for at least $1.55 a bushel, and perhaps over $2.

Many farmers are in the "designated areas" under which they must sell their wheat through the Wheat Board which is offering the farmers $1.55 a bushel. The distillers must pay $2.57 a bushel, if they buy from the Wheat Board.

Packard Prices Up

DETROIT (AP)—The Packard Motor Co., following in the line of General Motors Corporation announced Tuesday an immediate 5 per cent average price increase on all its current car models. The increases range from $92 to $200, Packard said.

Last Friday General Motors announced prices increases of 2 to 6 per cent, attributing its action to increased labor and material costs.

British Wives Losing Husbands

LONDON (AP)—The battle of wives vs. frauleins racked a large section of the British public today as increasing numbers of British women told of losing their soldier husbands to girls in Germany.

Tearful pleas to the War Office and despairing letters to newspapers, with a sprinkling of divorce cases showed a large measure of agreement with the statement of one woman: "The German women are winning this war."

"Thousands of homes are being broken in this country," she added in a letter published by the Evening Standard.

"My husband fell in love with a German girl and now I am his wife in name only—this is my reward for five years of watching and waiting," lamented another.

Applications by British servicemen to marry German girls neared 5,000.

Thomas Bates, a Londoner who worked with the Allied Control Commission for three years in Germany, said in a published letter:

"The chances of a husband being as good as lost the moment he sets foot in Germany are about 75 to 25."

Chief reason is that German girls have been trained to love home life far more than British women.

The Archdeacon of Brighton, Very Rev. James H. L. Morrell, suggested another attraction of the frauleins following a recent visit to Germany:

"There is no equality nonsense about the sexes there. The man is definitely the head of the house."

In the afternoon these winners played off as far as the semifinals, leaving two local rinks as finalists. Sam Barr of Canadian Pacific skipped his rink of H. Davis, S. Cole and W. J. Evans, to victory and the right to meet Jack Richardson's Lake Hill team of A. Tattersall, Madelon and Craig in the final Saturday.

The number of successful contestants in the men's singles was whittled down to eight, as a result of last evening's play. Visitors and local players share about evenly in their representation in the remaining play-off berths. Those still in the running are S. Keenleyside, M.P.; A. Houston, M.P.; S. Barr, C.P.; W. Rickson, Court; D. Williams, N. Vancouver; J. Smith, Vancouver West; Whitlaw and A. N. Other.

WOMEN'S RINKS

In the women's rinks event the visiting Hastings Community Club rink of Mrs. Harper, Mrs. Pringle, Mrs. Galbraith and Mrs. Berry, won from another visiting rink of Tacoma ladies skipped by Mrs. M. Geer and including Mrs. B. Thomas, Mrs. L. Doherty and Mrs. B. Sweeting. Mrs. Harper's rink will enter the finals from the section being played at the Canadian Pacific greens. Miss McCready's N. Vancouver rink of Mrs. H. Hullah, Mrs. L. Hunter and Mrs. W. F. Hunter emerged as the victors in the Victoria West section by winning from the West Point Grey rink of Mrs. P. Barr, Mrs. F. Beatty, Mrs. J. W. Eastham and Mrs. C. Brakenridge.

This evening one more game will be played in the women's singles contest to determine the fourth player of the semifinals; also carded for tonight. The winner of a match between Mrs. Ellison and Mrs. Simmonds, Victoria, will meet Mrs. Donovan, M.P., for the right to continue in the finals Saturday. In the other half of the semifinals Mrs. W. Peden, C.P., will engage Mrs. B. Thomas of Tacoma. Mrs. Peden is the wife of the defending champion in the men's singles, while Mrs. Thomas herself won the women's singles four years ago.

Doubles competition got under way today in both men's and women's divisions.

Will Coach Regina

REGINA (CP)—Manager Clarence Monahan of Regina Pats, said today that Murray Armstrong, former centre ice star with Detroit Red Wings and New York Americans in the National Hockey League, will coach the Saskatchewan Amateur Hockey Association junior entry this winter.

The announcement came as a surprise to local sports circles, who had previously been predicting that Armstrong would coach the senior Regina Caps.

Pete Salmon Triple Winner At Keowna

By ART STOTT

Times Staff Representative

KELOWNA—Pete Salmon, triple winner in individual events and member of a winning relay, led Victoria's flying "Y" swimmers to a commanding lead in team points as Kelowna's 41st annual regatta got under way in the golden Okanagan sunshine yesterday. He was counted on to complete his sensational performances with enough wins today to retain the aggregate point honors.

The Victorians, sharpening up for the Canadian championships in the capital next week, took nine firsts Tuesday.

Salmon, swimming with his head as well as his arms and legs, beat Washington's Dick Campbell to take the 100 yards freestyle, outswam Washington's Bud Hill handily to annex his specialty, the 100 yard breaststroke and walked away from the same challenger in the 150 yard medley. Teamed with backstroker Dick Bowden and freestyler Ron Neilson, he helped the "Y" to victory in the 300 yard medley relay. Bowden opened the show with a first in the 200 yard backstroke in which Eric Jubb the junior 100 yard breaststroke, finished second to nose out the Washington entry.

Jubb, with a heavy program today, warmed up with a first in which "Y's" Jack Morgan was second. They paired with Stan Howell to win the 150 yard junior boys' relay.

"Y" GIRLS VICTORS

Aileen Smyth, presiding queen of the carnival, laid aside her regal robes to team with Ina Salmon and Joan Morgan to win the women's 300 yard medley relay, and her two mates Ina and Joan, finished second and third in a special 50 yard sprint behind Vancouver's Irene Strong.

Junior "Y" girls, Nita Anderson, Jean Mills and Margaret Freeman, placed second in the 150 yard junior medley relay.

Morgan swam well to finish second to Vancouver's Norah Kirkpatrick in the 100 yard backstroke and in the same spot, just ahead of Ina Salmon, in the 150 yard medley swim. Jean Mills and Nita Anderson added points with a second and third in the 100 yard junior girls backstroke and Stan Powell finished third in the 300 yard junior freestyle.

Jack Wellburn of the Victoria A.S.C. finished third in the senior men's 400 yard freestyle while Doug Stewart of the same club took third in the junior boys' 100 yard breaststroke. The V.A.S.C. team was second in the 150 yard junior medley.

Negro Nine's Comedy Routine Feature Of Exhibition Tussle

Displaying plenty of comedy and showmanship, Ford's California Tigers last night made their first showing in the city a crowd pleaser as they took a 9 to 5 decision from the senior league all-stars in an exhibition baseball tilt at Athletic Park. The two clubs will meet again tonight at 8 with Bill Prior, formerly of the A's, slated to get the nod for the locals.

Keeping up a constant chatter, shooting crap, standing on their heads, catching in a rocking chair and while sitting, kneeling and laying on the ground, the negro players kept the crowd in a continual buzz of approval during the contest.

Catcher Baldy Benson, Tigers' catcher, proved a real showman. Catching from his rocking chair, Benson looked sharp. In the ninth he disregarded the chair and caught pitches while flat on his stomach.

As for the game itself, the locals came up with a creditable performance. Stan Davies held the visitors to two singles in the first five innings but bumped into trouble in the sixth when Tigers tallied twice. They pushed across three runs in the seventh, two of them unearned. Bob Prior worked the rest of the route and gave up the final markers.

ANDERSON STARS

Bernie Anderson, local high school student playing his first all-star game for the amateurs, was the pick of the senior league. Anderson got himself three hits, one a double off the centrefield wall, to drive home two runs. The rest of the squad displayed plenty of hustle and came up with a smart double play.

Harry Washington, 17-year-old star, will pitch for the Tigers tonight. Toothy Richardson, who worked the contest last night, was only 16 years of age and although a trifle on the wild side gave up only seven hits.

Senior league schedule for this week follows:

Late Rallies Give Salem One-Run Win

Victoria Athletics ran up against pitching troubles again last night as Salem Senators came through with a pair of two-run rallies in the seventh and eighth innings to win their W.I.L. ball game 4 to 3. It marked the opening of a three-game series. Salem victory moved the Oregon club into second place ahead of Bremerton, beaten 11 to 4 by the cellar-dwelling Wenatchee Chiefs.

Vancouver Capitanos, starting what they hope will be a steady uphill pull, rallied to defeat the league-leading Spokane Indians, 8 to 6, and take over sole occupation of fifth place, two and a half games back of the Athletics. Tacoma lost an 11 to 7 decision to Yakima and dropped to sixth.

Victoria and Salem fought a scoreless battle through the initial three frames, with Vince Lazor on the mound for Salem and Len Kasparovich doing the firing for the Vics. In the fourth the A's broke the ice with a three-run burst built on two errors, hits by Hooper and Mastro, Harshman's outfield fly and an infield out.

ODD SCORING

The Solons cracked the scoring column first in the 7th when Lazor's single, an error, a hit batsman and fly-out accounted for two tallies. Kasparovich was chased in the eighth as the Solons pushed over the tieing and winning counters on Peterson's single, Beard's double, an error single by Krug plus a hit batsman and Spaeter's long fly.

Jim Arnold, who took over from Kasparovich in the eighth, was charged with the defeat. Of the three runs scored off Kasparovich, only one of them was earned.

Vancouver put away the Spokane encounter with a three-run burst in the ninth inning. The winners' Bud Hejlas came up with the night's oddity, collecting all five of the walks issued by Spokane's Wally Kramer.

Wenatchee took advantage of nine walks and three Bremerton errors to sink the Bluejackets down a notch in the standings. The big inning was the fourth, when Wenatchee combined two hits with a walk and three errors for five runs. Joe Gedzius homered for the losers in the fourth.

A four-run spree off relief pitcher Cy Greenlaw in the eighth inning broke a 7-all deadlock to hand Yakima its win over Tacoma.

Tennis Star Queried On Expense Accounts

NEW YORK (AP)—President Holcombe Ward of the United States Lawn Tennis Association said today that Gardner Mulloy of Miami, Fla., Davis Cup player, had been ordered to appear before the amateur rules committee here Wednesday to answer "some questions about his expense accounts."

Ward said the meeting would be closed. He gave no details of the charges, if any, against the tennis star, other than to say there was no connection with last winter's trip with the American Davis cup squad to Australia.

Mulloy, who won a singles match in the American's 5.0 sweep of the challenge round against the Australians at Melbourne, is a strong candidate for a doubles berth on the team which will defend the cup at Forest Hills at the end of August.

Pete Powlison Enters Canadian Swim Meet

With a starry list of record holders and near greats of the Canadian swim world plus a goodly representation from south of the border entered, an all-out assault on many of the existing Dominion swimming marks is expected at the Canadian amateur swimming and diving championships in the Crystal Garden, Monday and Tuesday.

Vancouver's famed Irene Strong, holder of the 200 yard breaststroke record of 2:48.4, Ted Wilson, 50 yard backstroke champion and George Athans, three metre diving titleholder, will head the Vancouver Amateur Swimming Club entry list.

Doris Geldard of the Mermade Swimming Club, Toronto, recognized as one of the leading women natators in eastern Canada and present holder of six Dominion backstroke marks in the junior division has entered the tourney as a senior. She will compete in the 100 and 400 yard freestyle and the 100 yard backstroke.

The Fergus junior relay team, recent winners of the Quebec provincial championships and boasting the undefeated Glenna Marie Mills, 100-yard freestyle champion of Ontario and Quebec, is expected to prove a strong contender for junior honors.

U.S. STARS ENTER

Bad news for Canadian men is the entry of Pete Powlison of the University of Washington. The Hawaiian-born flash showed here earlier this year in a meet with the "Y" and distinguished himself as a possible United States Olympic prospect. Bud Hill, Bill Damastus, Dick Campbell and Bill Rule are other United States entries.

Twenty-three swimmers are coming from Winnipeg for the title gala, including Catharine Kerr, the former Catharine Gordon, freestyle record holder in the 40 and 50-yard distances.

Diving entries in the senior men's division include, besides defending titleholder Athans, Donald Thom of Edmonton, who took part in the Empire Trials in 1938; James Hawthorne and Wilf Bacon of Vancouver; Terry Connolly, British Columbia champion, and Ted Rau of the local Flying "Y" club.

Johnny Mize Within Reach Of Ruth's Mark

It is still anybody's race in the National League and as long as big Johnny Mize keeps clouting those long ones, the homer-hitting New York Giants are not to be sold short.

Mize not only is keeping the Giants right in the pennant fight, but is seriously threatening what is probably the greatest batting feat in baseball—Babe Ruth's record of 60 home runs in the 1927 season.

The hard-hitting first baseman walloped two into the Polo Grounds stands last night to lead the Giants to a 5 to 2 victory over Philadelphia Phillies. The victory, coupled with the Braves' 4 to 2 win over Brooklyn in Boston reduced the league-leading Dodgers' margin over the third-place Giants to seven games.

The runner-up St. Louis Cards now trail the Dodgers by six games following their 8 to 2 triumph over the Cubs in a day-light game in Chicago.

Mize's pair of round trippers, his 33rd and 34th of the season put him two games ahead of Ruth's record setting pace. The Babe did not hit his 34th until the New York Yankees had entered their 98th game.

Taking advantage of 10 bases on balls to add to their 11 hits off Cincinnati hurlers, Pittsburgh Pirates disposed of the Reds in Pittsburgh 12 to 4. Hank Greenberg drove in three runs to raise his season's output to 63 for the Bucs this season.

The Yankee stretched their American league lead to 14 games over the runner-up Boston Red Sox by defeating the Athletics in Philadelphia 8 to 5 in a night game while the Sox were losing a 3 to 1 decision to the Senators in Washington.

Bob Lemon hung up his second straight victory since his promotion to a starting role as Cleveland Indians downed the Tigers in a twilight game at Detroit 8 to 4.

Ed Lopat handcuffed the Browns in St. Louis with four hits in pitching Chicago White Sox to a 5 to 1 night game victory.

Helen Pettigrew In Starring Role As Eaglettes Triumph

Wally Yeaman's Eaglettes squared their best-of-five series with Hudson's Bay for the women's senior A softball crown at one game apiece last night as pitcher Helen Pettigrew starred both on the hill and at the plate. Third game in the series will be played at Central Park, tomorrow, at 6.30.

Holding the hard-hitting department store nine scoreless for the first four innings, Pettigrew gave up her only two runs in the fifth inning, both unearned, and then shut out the league champions in the final four frames. Her single in the first inning accounted for Eaglettes' first run and her second hit in the sixth allowed winners to tie the score at 2 to 2.

Winning run came in the last half of the ninth inning off Flo Kennedy, who relieved Bay's starting pitcher Hilda Post in the seventh. Kennedy issued two free tickets to first in the final frame. Lorraine Slater sacrificed and Lorna Latham was purposely passed to fill the bases for a possible double play set-up. The strategy backfired, however, as Joyce Gilder smashed a single to centre field to drive home the deciding tally.

Hudson's Bay big chance came in the eighth inning when they loaded the bags with one out. A smart double killing by way of the plate ended the threatened rally.

Army and Navy Vets took a one-game lead in their division one, senior B men's playoffs with Dominion Meat Market, with a one-sided, 11 to 2, victory. Gordie Hayward, Vets' third baseman, was the big gun in the attack, hitting two home runs. Fred Jones was the winning pitcher, hurling shutout ball after the first frame.

Second game in the series is slated for Central Park, tomorrow, at 6.30.

Seattle Captures 11-Inning Battle From Top Angels

The underdogs in Coast League baseball presented a solid front yesterday. Four second division teams all won their games while the first division clubs all lost. As a result Portland moved up into fourth place behind the leading Los Angeles Angels, replacing Sacramento, but otherwise there were no changes in the league standings.

The Seattle Rainiers, breaking a six-game losing stretch, took an 11-inning battle from Los Angeles, 2 to 1, with all runs scored in the final frame. The Angels' Dutch McCall pitched a tight one-hitter for the regulation innings, but gave up five blows in the extra innings, while Los Angeles was getting to three. Seattle hurlers for eight hits. Guy Fletcher was credited with the win.

Last place San Diego took a 3 to 1 win from second-place Oakland.

In another 11-inning contest the Portland Beavers upset San Francisco 5 to 4 to win the opener of a three-game series. Mayo-Smith ended the contest in the 11th with a home run.

The Hollywood Stars, winning 10 of their last 11 games, pulled even with fifth-place Sacramento by defeating the Solons 7 to 3.

'Tell It To The Judge' Mayor Says About Traffic Tickets

Under the mistaken impression that the police commission makes traffic and other by-laws, citizens getting tickets for infractions are constantly telephoning Mayor Percy George and other members of the commission to make their excuses, in an effort to avoid appearing in police court, Mayor George said today.

"As police commissioners we have nothing to do with making the by-laws," Mayor George explained. "That is the duty of the City Council. The police force is merely the enforcing agency, working under the direction of the police commission."

He said he had no intention of interfering in any way with the police department in the carrying out of its duties, and regardless of how good the excuse for the infraction of the by-law may have been, he is not the person to whom it should be made.

"I feel the citizens should be aware of the fact that it is the City Council which makes the by-laws, and it is the duty of the police commission and the police department to have them carried out to the letter of the law," the mayor declared.

British Artists Here On Freighter

A well-known British artist who paints under the name of Sybil Andrews disembarked today from the Royal Mail passenger-freighter Loch Ryan, which arrived at Ogden Point late last night with a general cargo from the United Kingdom.

The artist, who is otherwise known as Mrs. W. W. Morgan, is accompanied by her husband, a contractor. They intend to settle down on Vancouver Island as soon as they have found a location.

The couple have brought with them cycles with trailers from England for their island trip. Mr. Morgan said they left England because of living conditions in that country.

"You can't get any food," he said, "and I couldn't get materials to build. So I sold the business and we both sailed for Canada on June 27."

Capt. W. H. Grimshaw, O.B.E., a veteran merchant marine seaman who has been with the company for 35 years, is commander of the ship.

The ship carried 10,400 tons of freight, including 300 cars, liquor and chinaware. When she left the United Kingdom there were 25 passengers aboard, but many of these disembarked at various ports of call on the way to the Pacific coast. Five passengers were disembarked at Vancouver.

Three Polio Cases In Hospital Here

There are now three poliomyelitis patients in Royal Jubilee Hospital, Dr. J. L. Murray Anderson, medical health officer, reported today. Two are Victoria cases and one a Duncan case, brought to Victoria because facilities in the up-island city were not sufficient.

The new Victoria case is a three-year-old boy who is reported by the doctor to be making satisfactory progress. There is slight muscular involvement in his case and also in the case of the man who has been in hospital for some days.

The Duncan case is quite severe, Dr. Anderson said. He is an adult, and it has been necessary to use both the respirator and the special equipment supplied by the Red Cross in treating him.

Explosion Injures Plumber In Face

Bernard Pronk, 1274 Centre Street, a plumber who suffered severe facial injuries, including eye burns, when an explosion took place in a boiler-room at Mackenzie, White & Dunsmuir Ltd., 818 Yates Street, Tuesday afternoon, was reported to be progressing favorably at Royal Jubilee Hospital this morning.

He is reported to have been working on a dismantled and drained hot water boiler when the accident occurred.

The police commission will meet Aug. 15, Mayor Percy George announced today.

World Conflict Now In Progress, Says U.S. Judge

"There is an irrepressible conflict going on in the world today between two diametrically opposed ideas—Democracy and Communism," Judge Matthew W. Hill of the Supreme Court of the State of Washington, told a Kiwanis Club meeting Tuesday in the Empress Hotel.

"On one hand there is freedom, responsible government and economic liberty while on the other hand is tyranny, despotism and poverty. Such differences cannot be reconciled," Judge Hill said.

"Many are puzzled that countries of Europe have turned to Communism," the speaker continued. In answering this question, he noted most Europeans had lived under systems of dictatorship and had never known the meaning of freedom, liberty and prosperity. "The word Democracy means nothing to those people," he said.

"They do, however, know what it is to be hungry and without shelter. Therefore, they have been impressed by the Russian guarantee that there will be no war under a Communist system."

Judge Hill noted that many Russian soldiers settled in the countries where they fought because they found it was very much like their own land. These soldiers have spread their ideas. British, American and Canadian soldiers, however, found the land much different and returned home as soon as they could.

"There might have been a different story to tell if our men had stayed a little while and taught the people a few things of democratic principles," Judge Hill said.

Despite the great contrast between the two systems of government under discussion, Judge Hill warned against pessimism. "The conflict need not lead to war. We don't want war and neither do the Russians."

The judge charged that too many persons were advocating a "one world policy," where everybody was expected to speak, plan, act and think alike.

"This idea is not practical," the speaker said. "People have differences—thousands of them—and you cannot make them all the same."

"What would bring the world closer together is a universal standard of justice and morality," Judge Hill said. "A standard of right and wrong for everybody," he concluded.

Attending the meeting as guests of Victoria Kiwanians were over 100 members of Kiwanis Clubs of Olympia, Wash., and Salem, Oregon. The meeting marked the resumption of pre-war "capital to capital" visits by the Kiwanians.

"I sincerely hope these inter-club visits will never be interrupted by war," remarked Ernest Miner, president of the Olympic Club.

Phillip Snell, president of the Salem Kiwanis Club, headed the delegation from Oregon.

Mayor Percy E. George thanked the speaker and extended a welcome from the City of Victoria to the visitors "from across the imaginary boundary."

Mayor Ernest Mallory of Olympia brought greetings from that city.

Torpedo Demonstration Held Aboard Warship At Naden

Victorians and visitors saw torpedoes and depth charges fired from H.M.C.S. Ontario, at a demonstration held aboard the warship which was opened to the public today in connection with Navy Week celebrations.

The torpedoes unloaded, and tied with rope were fired into the harbor and later recovered by seamen. Empty depth charges fired over the side of the ship also thrilled the many visitors.

With the exception of H.M.S. Kenya, Royal Navy cruiser, all Canadian warships were opened to the public from 130 to 530. The ships are all berthed at Naden where displays in seamanship, diving, fire-fighting were held.

A band concert was held throughout the afternoon at H.M.C.S. Naden. At 5.30 a sunset ceremony will be held on Naden parade ground. At 9 a dance for British and Canadian seamen will be held at Prince Robert House. The dance is sponsored by the Navy League.

Hundreds of spectators are expected to attend the haval regatta in Esquimalt harbor Thursday at 2 in the afternoon. Eleven separate races, including a boat named by nursing sisters from the R.C.N. Hospital will participate in the races.

The best vantage point to see the aces will be on the jetties at Naden. Between races the cruisers Ontario and Kenya will be opened to the public.

130 Cubs Going To Sooke Camp

Tomorrow morning at 9.15, leaving from the Johnson Street scouting headquarters, 130 cubs will leave for Camp Barnard in the Sooke country for their annual camp. On Friday afternoon a number of Victoria scouts will be on hand at the C.P.R. docks to greet the visiting 20 Quebec scouts and leaders who are on a tour of Canada. The visitors will remain in Victoria until the following afternoon. Local scouts will attend to their billeting and entertainment during the Quebecers' stay.

This evening, the Lions' Own Troop of the Victoria and District Boy Scout Association, accompanied by several other senior scouts, will go to Patricia Bay and put on a camp-fire program with the visiting air cadets at the station.

Right To Summons Union Disputed In Court Of Appeal

Contention that there is no provision in statute or law for the service of a summons on a trade union, was made by Robert J. McMaster as he opened the appeal of Mrs. Eula Patterson, president of the Nanaimo Laundry and Dry Cleaners' Union, Local No. 1, today, before a special sitting of the Court of Appeal.

Chief Justice Gordon McG. Sloan presided with Mr. Justice C. H. O'Halloran and Mr. Justice H. B. Robertson.

Mrs. Patterson is appealing a judgment of Mr. Justice A. D. Macfarlane, which disallowed her application, to make final a writ, prohibiting court action against the union. Chief Justice Sloan ordered a stay of proceedings until the appeal could be heard and called the present special sitting of the Appeal Court, which ordinarily would not open its sittings here until Sept. 9.

FIRST CASE OF KIND

"This is the first case under the Industrial Conciliation and Arbitration Act of 1947, passed by the last session of the Legislature, in which it is sought to prosecute a trade union," Mr. McMaster said in opening his submissions.

Information was laid against the union by a labor department official June 9 at Nanaimo, he said, adding that summons was issued by Magistrate Lionel Beevor-Potts and left by a police officer with Mrs. Patterson. The provincial labor department's prosecution of the union, its three officials and 22 striking employees of the Imperial Laundry, City Cleaners and Dyers, opened in Nanaimo in June.

The 22 women workers were convicted of participating in an illegal strike and fined $1 each by Magistrate Beevor-Potts at Nanaimo Friday. He dismissed three bargaining agents of the Laundry Workers' Union (C.C.L.), finding them not guilty of the charge of having authorized the strike.

"A trade union is only recognized by law as a name assumed by or attributed to, a collection of individuals, bound together by common agreement and has no separate existence apart from it," Mr. McMaster told the Court of Appeal.

He contended that a "union" being an unincorporated association of employees, not for gain and not registered under the Dominion Trade Union Act, as a union, had no legal personality.

At one point Mr. Justice Robertson asked Mr. McMaster if he said the union was a nullity in law. When Mr. McMaster replied in the affirmative, Mr. Justice Robertson said, that if such were the case, the union would have no bargaining power.

"The question is whether the I.C.A. has created a trade union into a legal entity," Mr. McMaster said.

He outlined the two main branches of the appeal, stating they were:

1—"Whether the union is by the Industrial Conciliation and Arbitration Act, created into such a separate entity or legal person, as to be independent of its membership, subject to terms of the said act, in the name by which it is known;
2—"Whether, if a union, as a
